ITALY TO FACE RAIN OF BOMBS

BRITISH CABINET STANDS BY ITS ITALIAN MOVE TO SEEK PEACE IS BELIEVED IMMINENT

Rome Is Ousted As Envoy To Vatican; End Of War Is Held Real Goal Of Marshal Badoglio; Difficulty In Delaying Decision Grows

BERN, Switzerland, July 31.—(AP)—Strong indications came from Rome Saturday night that peace was and is the real goal of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, but that presence of German troops fighting on Italian soil is the main obstacle.

A statement from the government clarifying the issue was expected within the next three days, possibly within the next 24 hours. Axis diplomats had waited for it Friday night.

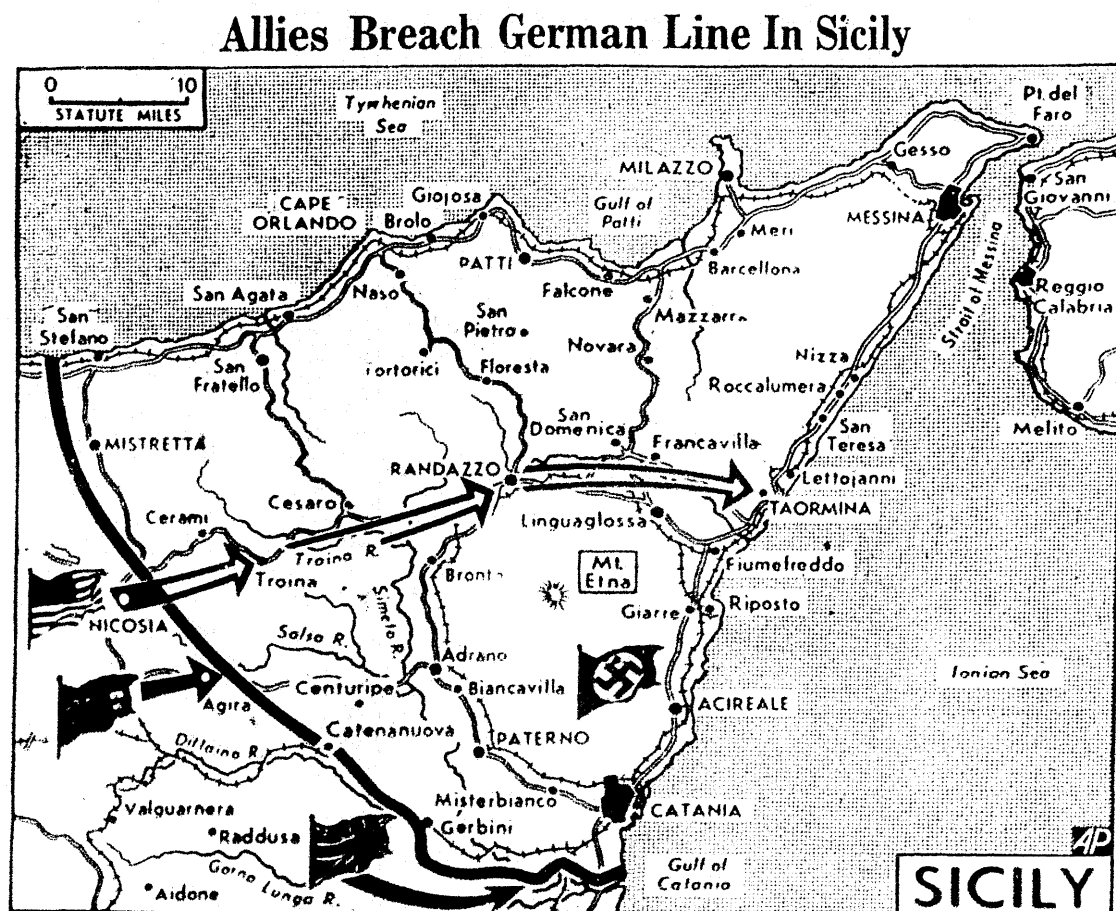

A Rome dispatch to the Basler Nachrichten, passing through official Italian censorship, said negotiations of growing dimensions were in progress within Vatican walls and within the capital itself. They were declared to have involved Italy and the Allies, and Italy and the Germans.

The initial two requirements of the Allies, the dispatch said, were the overthrow of Fascism, and putting off of German troops.

The first demand has been met and "perhaps the second also will one day be fulfilled," it added. But many Italians were worried that even if the Germans could be prevailed upon to withdraw from southern and central Italy, the Axis war machine would still be in a position to maintain a stand north behind the Po.

The Neue Zuercher Zeitung reported from Chiaso that German reinforcements continued to arrive in northern Italy by the Brenner pass.

RECORD WEEK IN AERIAL WAR ENDS

Daylight Attacks On Europe Continue As Continent Digs Out Of Ruins

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—A week of the most concentrated, sustained attacks ever made on Germany's "third front" ended Saturday with hundreds of Allied fighters and bombers roaring over smoking, Axis-held Europe by daylight.

A joint American and British communiqué said Saturday night medium and heavy bombers smashed at German airfields in northern France Saturday, United States Eighth air force mediums striking fields at Poix, Meriville, Triqueville and Abbeville, while R. A. F. mediums and fighters attacked others at St. Omer, Amiens and Lille.

The daylight fleets attacked after a saturation assault Friday night by the R. A. F. of Remscheid, a previously untouched key town in the German industrial system.

Matching Allied efforts elsewhere in the United Nations' greatest month of the war, the shattering aerial offensive from Britain attained new fury in July, with the great German port of Hamburg apparently marked for obliteration.

A reconnaissance pilot flying over Hamburg at noon Saturday found great fires still burning from the last 2,300-ton attack 36 hours earlier. Smoke stretched for 50 miles south of the dock area, he said.

The R. A. F. heavy bombers—probably about 400 strong and juggling nearly 1,000 tons of bombs—switched Friday night from Hamburg to the important machine tool center of Remscheid just south of the Ruhr, blanketing it with fire bombs and explosives.

The bomb load was delivered in 25 minutes, the air ministry said, or about half the time of top strength assaults like those against Hamburg.

A main target was the Alexanderwerk A. G., a 75-acre establishment turning out machinery for the chemical industry and for production of motor parts and small arms. The city harbored 25 smaller factories, mostly machine tool producers, and railway repair shops.

The attack on the comparatively small town of 10,700 was so concentrated that massed guns and searchlights of Cologne to the south opened up. But pilots said defenses of Remscheid itself were light compared with those of Hamburg.

A Berlin broadcast asserted 54 planes were shot down by aerial defenses and acknowledged casualties and heavy damage "particularly in residential quarters."

Smoke was still curling 15,000 feet high on Saturday afternoon, reconnaissance showed.

BIG U. S. TROOP CONVOY SAFE IN BRITISH ISLES

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—Thousands of United States troop reinforcements have arrived in Britain after an uneventful Atlantic crossing, it was announced Saturday.

Thousands of Canadian troops, including parachute troops, also arrived in one of the largest contingents of troops to reach Britain from the Dominions. All have already been settled in scattered camps throughout England.

SOVIETS REPULSE GERMAN ASSAULT IN DONETS BASIN

RUSSIANS KEEP UP SLOW ADVANCE ON ENEMY BASE

LONDON, Aug. 1 (Sunday).—(AP)—Russian big guns smashed almost 100 German tanks yesterday as Soviet forces fought to a standstill another major Axis blow in the Donets basin of southern Russia, while in the Orel sector Red troops rolled on slowly to take several populated places killing 1,400 Germans in the advance.

The German push southwest of Voroshilovgrad, powered with tanks, planes and shock troops reeled back under concentrated Soviet shelling, said the Moscow midnight communiqué, recorded by the Soviet monitor.

In another, the bulletin said, German infantry divisions, covered by large numbers of tanks, attacked the Russian lines. Soviet troops separated the enemy infantry from the tanks by machine gun and rifle fire, forcing the troops to turn back. Then Red artillery and tanks picked off the Axis armor. By the end of the day 50 wrecked German tanks studied the battlefield.

German aircraft, used in great numbers in this drive, were targets for Russian anti-aircraft fire and fighter planes which brought down 28 of them.

An earlier special bulletin said that on Friday, the first day of the German attack in the south, 95 tanks were wrecked in the area out of 103 disabled or destroyed on the entire Russian front. Fifty-eight enemy aircraft also were shot down on all fronts on that day.

The German Donets basin move was an attempt to divert Russian strength from gravely menaced Orel, 325 miles to the northwest. But the Soviet central armies, slogging through knee-deep mud around Orel, gained steadily in their own counter-attack of that Nazi base.

The Russians said the desperate German defenders, hurriedly reinforced by airborne troops from France and Germany, launched four counter-attacks which were beaten down by Soviet troops near the gates of the city. Six hundred Germans were killed in one of these futile charges.

North of Orel, where several villages were captured, a series of German counterattacks faded after 1,300 of their men were killed. Twenty heavy guns and other war material were captured there, the communiqué said.

Three German counterattacks were fought off south of Orel, and a German stronghold occupied. Eight Nazi tanks were burned, many Germans were killed and an artillery and three mortar batteries destroyed.

The failure of Germany's third summer campaign, and the steady success of the Russian counteroffensive prompted the Soviet army newspaper, Red Star, to comment:

"The prospects of an utter defeat of the German army is becoming ever more imminent."

A Berlin broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, declared that since July 5, when the German summer offensive began, 57,000 Soviet prisoners had been taken, 7,000 Russian tanks destroyed and 2,500 Soviet guns captured or destroyed.

The diversionary German attack in the Donets basin, in failing to achieve a breakthrough on the first day, indicated the Germans would not be able to make a serious advance. The Red army now has had 24 hours to prepare for the assault and the Germans have lost the element of surprise.

Red Star said the Germans hit unsuccessfully at several points southwest of Voroshilovgrad, throwing masses of tanks and infantry into the violent struggle.

As heavy Soviet artillery blasted the tanks, Red Star said, the Germans worked out under the pressure of the situation in order that the French committee would be able to present a unified demand for equal status with other United Nations in determining peace terms for Italy.

When the committee deals with military affairs and De Gaulle when it handles civil or political problems. When Giraud is in the field with his troops De Gaulle will preside alone.

Day Close At Hand When Hitler Must Fight Allies Alone

Interpretation By Kirke L. Simpson

The long awaited first vital crack in the Nazi-Fascist Axis arch over Europe showed itself in Italy this portentous war week to hint at the dry rot of defeatism beginning everywhere to gnaw at its foundations.

As suddenly as Kaiser Wilhelm's bayonet-built house of cards began toppling about German ears a quarter-century ago, the sinister edifice Hitler and Mussolini have reared in its image is rocking now with onsets of disaster. Its junior architect, Il Duce, has gone down in a headlong crash in Italy, carrying with him the whole Fascist wing. A babel of rumor of impending Italian and Balkan defection leaves nothing certain except the clear-cut fact that Hitlerized Germany is being isolated.

The day is close at hand when she must fight alone. And the full weight of two-front war is pressing in upon her from east and south. Her security defenses are offering no western front Anglo-American air attack that is ripping the industrial heart of Germany to shreds, city by city, plant by plant.

Whatever its ultimate result, the political upheaval in Italy that toppled her own and Nazi doom, caused no moment's pause in Russia and Anglo-American efforts to crush Germany between the jaws of a colossal military vice. From rain-soaked central Russia to the Anglo-American bridge-

JAPS DRIVEN FROM MUNDA, VILA FIELDS

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., July 31.—(AP)—The Japanese air force has been driven from Munda and Vila, in the central Solomon islands, and is operating from Kahihi on Bougainville island, 120 miles to the north, Colonel C. F. Schilt, United States marine corps officer in charge of light bomber striking forces on New Georgia island, said Saturday.

"There's nothing left on Munda airfield but peck-marks," the 48-year-old officer from Olney, Ill., declared. "American troops now are advancing on Munda field, New Georgia, in a campaign aimed at wiping out this important Japanese base. Vila, on Kolombangara island northwest of Munda, has been another outstanding enemy air base in the Solomons."

Vila field was blasted out of use by a force of more than 100 American bombers of the combined army, navy and marine command, Schilt said.

The ratio of losses is eight Japanese pilots to one Allied pilot, Schilt said, attributing this margin to the fact that the Japanese are being shot and more determined, and are recovering many pilots by a very effective method. "Colonel Schilt said he could not reveal details of the method."

JAP SHIPPING IN HARBOR AT HONGKONG IS BLASTED

CHUNGKING, July 31.—(AP)—Liberator and Mitchell bombers of the 14th United States air force smashed wharves and shipping in Japanese-occupied Hongkong harbor Wednesday and Thursday, nailing a large freighter with a direct hit, the headquarters of Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell announced Saturday.

The Taikoo wharf area was plastered with "many direct hits" by Mitchells during the first raid. Wharves, shops and drydock facilities on the Kowloon side of the harbor were heavily bombed by Liberators the next day. The American airmen beat off an attack by a small number of Japanese planes, probably destroying one.

P-40 fighters escorted the bombers, and the communiqué did not mention any American losses.

SHOCK OF 440-VOLT WIRE KILLS SHREVEPORT MAN

SHREVEPORT, La., July 31.—(AP)—W. L. Steiner, 58, electrician for a local refinery, was electrocuted late Saturday when he came in contact with a 440-volt wire while working on a line atop a pole. Dr. Harry W. Paul, deputy county parish coroner, told the death accident occurred at the refinery. Steiner was a native of Fayetteville, Ark. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. R. C. Clanton, Florence, Ala.

The Neue Zuercher Zeitung reported from Chianasso that German reinforcements continued to arrive in northern Italy by the Brenner pass.

Meanwhile in other major developments:

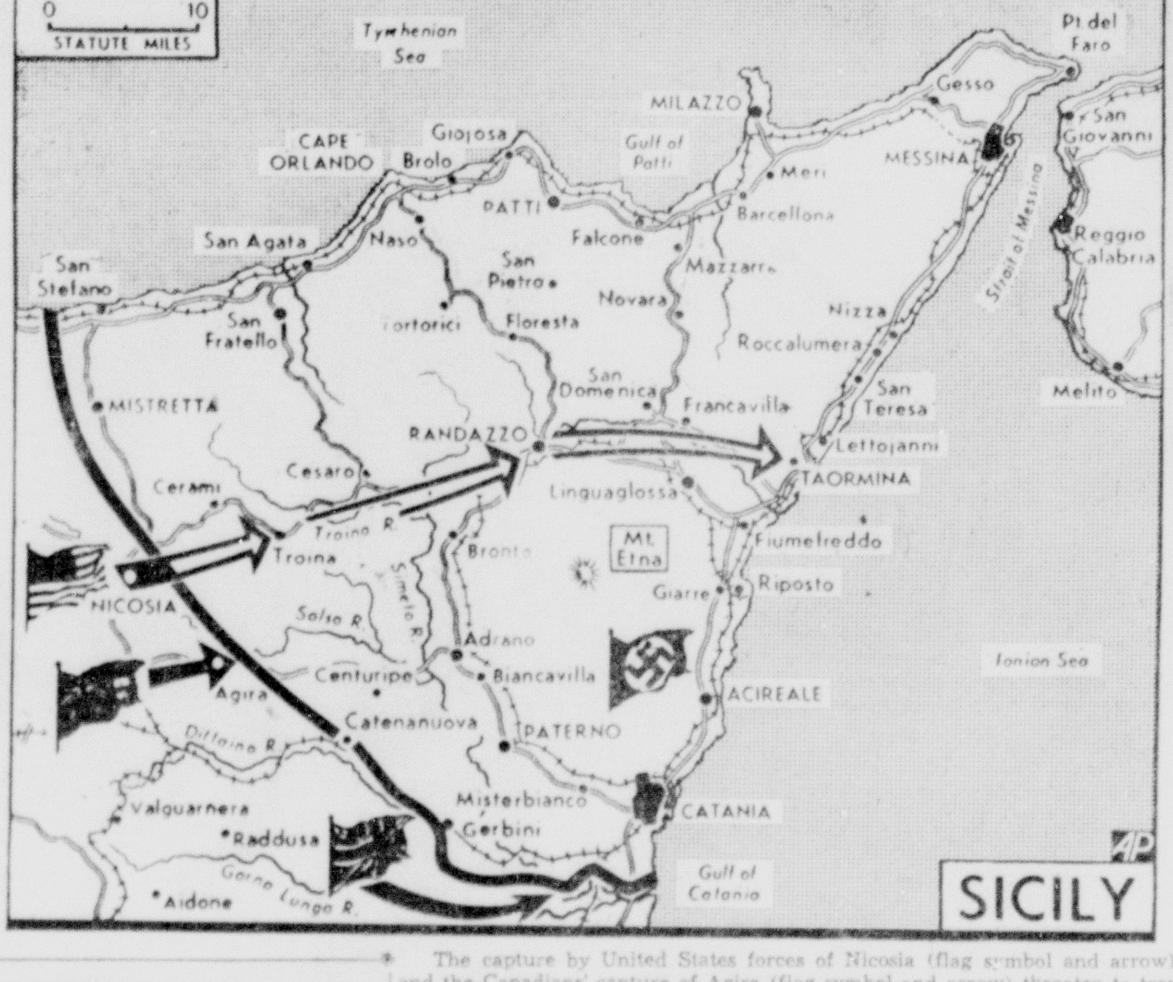

Frontier dispatches said German civilians living in Italy had been advised Saturday by their consuls to go home immediately.

The Rome radio said Count Galeazzo Ciano, son-in-law of Mussolini, had resigned as Italian ambassador to the Vatican, possibly as a step toward peace, and Rome newspapers reported that Ciano and Mussolini were under arrest at the Palazzo Chigi, the former Italian foreign office in Rome.

In London, the Yugoslav government-in-exile announced that Slovene irregulars who live and are fighting inside Italian borders had broken through Italian lines into the Udine region, 40 miles northwest of Nazi-occupied Trieste. The guerrillas already are recruiting "great numbers" of Slovene inhabitants of the area, it added.

Allies Breach German Line In Sicily

The capture by United States forces of Nicosia (flag symbol and arrow) and the Canadians capture of Agrig (flag symbol and arrow) threaten to trap the German defenders of Catania or force a general Axis retreat to Messina. The Seventh Army column under Lieutenant General George S. Patton, now past Nicosia, apparently is striking out for Taormina and Randazzo on the way to Taormina (open arrow), which would, if successful, cut off the German escape route to Messina. The Canadians are now within 20 miles of Catania and threaten that city from the west.

SOVIETS REPULSE GERMAN ASSAULT IN DONETS BASIN

Drive Near Voroshilovgrad Is Designed To Draw Off Reds From Ore

RUSSIANS KEEP UP SLOW ADVANCE ON ENEMY BASE

LONDON, Aug. 1 (Sunday).—(AP)—Russian big guns smashed almost 100 German tanks yesterday as Soviet forces fought to a standstill another major Axis blow in the Donets basin of southern Russia, while in the Ore sector Red troops rolled on slowly to take several populated places killing 1,400 Germans in the advance.

The German push southwest of Voroshilovgrad, powered with tanks, planes and shock troops reeled back under concentrated Soviet shelling, said the Moscow midnight communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor.

In one sector 45 German tanks were knocked out.

In another, the bulletin said, German infantry divisions, covered by large numbers of tanks, attacked the Russian lines. Soviet troops separated the enemy infantry from the tanks by machine gun and rifle fire, forcing the troops to turn back. Then Red artillery and tanks picked off the armor. The Russians said the desperate German defenders, hurriedly reinforced by airborne troops from France and Germany, launched four counterattacks which were beaten down by Soviet troops near the gates of the city. Six hundred Germans were killed in one of these futile charges.

'Breathing Space Is Ended—Be Prepared,' Italians Told; Our Forces Continue To Slice Remaining Axis Territory In Northeast Sicily

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 31.—(AP)—The grim warning that a crushing new air offensive against the Italian mainland is coming immediately was sounded by radio Saturday night to the people of Italy.

The Allied command in North Africa declared that "The blood of every Italian struck will be on the heads of the men in Rome."

Advising Italians to stay away from railways, factories, depots, German barracks and all military targets, the Allied broadcast accused the new Badoglio government of giving Germans time to strengthen their hand in Italy and said the new regime in Italy's hour of decision had "temporarily instead of acting for honor, for peace and freedom."

There was no confirmation of a report that General Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of Allied forces in North Africa, was negotiating with a representative of the Italian government. In view of the warning that bombings would be resumed it was considered highly unlikely.

The first Italian broadcast after the Allied warning of bombs to come was a broadcast by Rome radio which said that the Italian people had no choice but to continue the war.

(The broadcast, which was reported by the OWI in the United States, came three hours after the Allied message and may have been too soon to constitute a reply.)

"The entire Italian people, in the name of its honor and its interests,"

Two Axis fighters were destroyed and one medium bomber and two fighters are missing.

German fighters offered some opposition to one section of American medium bombers and its escort of 250 Spitfires. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was reported in the vicinity of some targets.

The daylight fleets attacked after a saturation assault Friday night by the R. A. F. of Remscheid—a previously untouched key town in the German industrial system.

FRANK ELLIS IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

President Pro Tem Of State Senate Says He's Free Of 'Entanglements'

COVINGTON, La., July 31.—(AP)—Frank B. Ellis of this city, president pro tempore of the state senate, announced his candidacy for governor in the January Democratic primary here Saturday, saying that his decision to run for the office stemmed from the fact "a vast majority of our citizens" want a candidate "free of factional entanglements."

Ellis is 36 years old and a native of Covington. He was elected a member of the state senate from the 22nd senatorial district comprising the parishes of Washington and St. Tammany in 1940 over four opponents in the first primary. He was unanimously elected president pro tempore of the senate in May, 1940.

His primary education was received in the public schools of Louisiana and his legal training at Louisiana State university and in the law office of his father, Harvey E. Ellis. He is at present a member of the firm of Ellis, Ellis and Barranger of New Orleans and Covington, and a member of the St. Tammany parish, Louisiana State and American Bar associations.

His wife is the former Alice Grima of New Orleans and three children include Lilian Emerson Ellis, Stephen Grima Ellis, and Frank B. Ellis, Jr.

Ellis' statement in part:

"I heartily offer myself as a candidate for governor of Louisiana, subject to the action of the white Democratic in the coming primary. I do so with humility, but with a full understanding of the responsibility of the office and of the times."

"In the busy months ahead I shall ask for only so much of your attention as is absolutely necessary to make you acquainted with my platform, plans and qualifications."

"Campaigning of the old familiar variety should be banned for the duration."

"I respectfully remind you that I have always stood for what I believe to be right, regardless of factional alignments, and this, my record as president pro tempore of the senate will amply prove."

"I announce my candidacy, not because."

NEUTRALS ARE GIVEN F. D. R.'S REQUEST

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—United States diplomats in the neutral countries are conveying to these governments President Roosevelt's request that they refuse asylum to Mussolini, Hitler, Tojo or any of their "gangs" wanted as war criminals.

The state department issued this announcement Saturday night.

"The diplomatic representatives of the United States in Stockholm, Sweden, Ankara, (Turkey), Madrid, (Spain), Lisbon, (Portugal), Bern, (Switzerland), Vatican City and Buenos Aires (Argentina), have been instructed by the department of state to bring the president's statement (at his press-conference yesterday) to the attention of the governments to which the above places are accredited."

The British representatives at the above places and the representatives of the U. S. S. R. in Stockholm and Ankara are making similar representations.

(Dublin, Eire, was not among the list of neutral capitals and it was said at the state department that Eire apparently was considered virtually inaccessible because of the British blockade.)

In his statement, President Roosevelt expressed the hope that no neutral government would permit its territory to be used as a place of refuge, since the affording of asylum "to Axis leaders or their tools" would be considered "inconsistent with the principles for which the United Nations are fighting."

In such form, an authority said, the communication would not necessarily require a formal reply, but serve as notice that the United Nations expect the governments to prevent the entrance of such persons into their territory.

MISTRIAL ORDERED IN BURTON CASE AFTER JURY DEADLOCKS

Unable To Agree After Almost 24 Hours Of Deliberations On Tax Evasion Charges Against Trio

NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—(AP)—Judge Wayne G. Borah at 4:25 p. m. Saturday ordered a mistrial in the case of William T. Burton and associates, charged with attempting to evade and conspiring to evade taxes of the W. T. Burton company, Inc.

Given the case almost 24 hours earlier, a jury in federal district court reported it was unable to reach a verdict and was discharged.

One hour earlier, S. W. Maxwell, secretary-treasurer of the Burton firm and one of the defendants in the suit, had collapsed in the court room while awaiting return of the jury. Naval doctors summoned from the federal building nearby said Maxwell suffered a heart attack.

Saturday night Maxwell's doctor reported the 70-year-old official's condition as "good," saying that he was "resting well and seems on the way to recovery."

Charges of attempted evasion and conspiracy to evade $135,729.93 in income taxes of the Burton company, originally brought by the government against Burton, Maxwell, Luke Brown and Victor C. Canfield, were taken under consideration by the jury at 6 p. m. Friday.

Judge Borah instructed the jurors to return a verdict of not guilty in connection with the indictment against Canfield, Luke Charles accountant, against whom the government had abandoned its case because of "insufficient evidence."

The mistrial followed the jury's failure to agree after 23 hours and 30 minutes of deliberation on four counts against the remaining three defendants. Three counts charged attempted evasion of taxes in the fiscal years 1936-37-38, the fourth charging conspiracy to evade these same taxes.

States District Attorney Herbert Christensen declined Saturday night to comment on the prospect of a re-trial until he had conferred with his superiors in Washington. Under the law the defendants may be tried again on the same indictment.

The government had testified the defendants attempted to evade $23,947.92 in corporation taxes for 1936; $80,508.68 for 1937 and $30,583.33 for 1938. Maximum penalty under the law is five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each of the four counts in the indictment.

Three counts of the indictment charged "conspiracy" to evade payment of corporation taxes, the fourth count charging attempted evasion.

The case went to the jury at 5 p. m. Friday after three weeks of testimony. Court recessed shortly before midnight Friday night and was reconvened at 10 Saturday morning.

JAPS DRIVEN FROM MUNDA, VILA FIELDS

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., July 31.—(AP)—The Japanese air force has been driven from Munda and Vila, in the central Solomon Islands, and is operating from Kahili on Bougainville Island, 130 miles to the north, Colonel C. F. Schilt, United States marine corps officer in charge of light bomber operations on New Georgia island, said Saturday.

"There's nothing left on Munda airfield but 'pock-marks' the year-old officer from Olney, Ill., declared. American troops now are advancing on Munda field, New Georgia, in a campaign aimed at wiping out this important Japanese base. Vila, on Kolombangara island northwest of Munda, has been another outstanding enemy air base in the Solomons."

Vila field was blasted out of use by a force of more than 100 American bombers of the combined army, navy and marine command, Schilt said.

The ratio of losses is eight Japanese pilots to one Allied flier, Schilt said, attributing this margin to the fact that "our men are better shots and more determined, and we are recovering many pilots by a very effective method." Colonel Schilt said he could not reveal details of the method.

GETS BIG SALARY ECONOMIC ANALYST

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—A man working for the office of economic warfare as a $5,000-a-month analyst, Representative Oscar C. Sawyer, Texas, declared Saturday, adding that he intends to bring attention to Leo Crowley, of the appointment.

action is taken I will bring to the attention of congressional committee on un-American activities."

Identified the appointment as Bovington and asserted his "re- and career as a ballet dancer is known." He said Bovington was appointed July 1, shortly before President Roosevelt created the OEW as the successor to the board of economic warfare and named Crowley as head.

TEN DIE IN BLAST

ALICANTE, Spain, July 31.—(AP)—Ten persons were killed and 40 injured when dynamite stored in a gunsmith shop in the center of Alicante exploded Saturday morning. The blast touched off a fire that raged all morning, destroyed the chamber of commerce building and damaged the city hall. A passing street car was split in two by the explosion.

DUCE HELD IN FORMER FASCIST DEATH HOUSE

CHIASSO, Switzerland, July 31.—(AP)—Former Premier Benito Mussolini is imprisoned near Rome at Portofino where his Fascist tribune for many years had put to death those opposing him, frontier reports said Saturday night.

Marshal Ugo Cavallero, former chief of staff, and General Calviati, former Fascist militia chief, also are reported held there.

Vito Mussolini, nephew of the fallen premier and director of the now defunct Fascist newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, was killed in a recent battle between a group of Fascists and regular Italian troops at Il Covo, these accounts said.

The Badoglio government was said to have secluded the Mussolini family: his wife, Donna Rachele; son, Vittorio and the latter's wife and children; daughter, Edda, and her husband, Count Galeazzo Ciano; and their son, the widow of Mussolini's son Bruno and her daughter; and other relatives.

147 SHIPS PASS THROUGH GIBRALTAR, MADRID SAYS

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP)—A Madrid radio report said Saturday that 147 Allied merchantmen had passed through the Strait of Gibraltar Friday "with more war material to reinforce Allied garrisons in the Mediterranean."

Madrid quoted "news from Gibraltar" as saying that the fleet included "large transports and tankers" strongly escorted by warships. The broadcast was recorded by United States foreign broadcast intelligence service, "Friday afternoon," it continued, "various American merchantmen of 8,000 and 10,000 tons anchored in the Bay of Gibraltar. Almost all of them carried on their decks great boxes containing airplanes, tanks and light armored cars."

BIG U. S. TROOP CONVOY SAFE IN BRITISH ISLES

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—Thousands of United States troop reinforcements have arrived in Britain after an uneventful Atlantic crossing, it was announced Saturday.

Thousands of Canadian troops, including parachute troops, also arrived in one of the largest contingents of troops to reach Britain from the Dominions. All have already been settled in scattered camps throughout England.

JAP SHIPPING IN HARBOR AT HONGKONG IS BLASTED

CHUNGKING, July 31.—(AP)—Liberators and Mitchell bombers of the 14th United States air force smashed wharves and shipping in Japanese-occupied Hongkong harbor Wednesday and Thursday, sailing a large freighter with a direct hit, the headquarters of Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell announced Saturday.

The Taihu wharf area was plastered with "many direct hits" by Mitchells during the first raid. Wharves, shops and drydock facilities on the Kowloon side of the harbor were heavily bombed by Liberators the next day. The American airmen beat off an attack by a small number of Japanese planes, probably destroying one.

P-40 fighters escorted the bombers, and the communique did not mention any American losses.

SHOCK OF 440-VOLT WIRE KILLS SHREVEPORT MAN

SHREVEPORT, La., July 31.—(AP)—W. L. Steiner, 56, electrician for a local refinery, was electrocuted late Saturday when he came in contact with a 440-volt wire while working on a line atop a pole. Dr. Harry W. Paul, deputy Caddo parish coroner, termed the death accidental.

Steiner was a native of Fayetteville, Ark. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. R. C. Clanton, Florence, Ala.

ANOTHER ONE-TWO PUNCH IS DEALT KISKA ISLAND

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—A new one-two punch by sea and air has been delivered against Japanese positions on Kiska island in the Aleutians, the navy reported Saturday, to end a two-day respite from attack which weather gave the enemy.

An American Flying Fortress bombed Japanese installations Thursday and a warship force followed up with a bombardment Friday in actions announced in the first communique on pre-invasion fighting around Kiska since Wednesday.

The bombing was the first raid on Kiska during July.

French End Dispute; Giraud Heads Armed Forces

ALGIERS, July 31.—(AP)—Generals Charles De Gaulle and Henri Giraud achieved Saturday unification of all French fighting forces under a single command responsible to a central government in a forceful bid for recognition by the United States as an equal partner in the Allied war effort.

Decrees named Giraud commander-in-chief of all the French land, sea and air forces in the world and gave De Gaulle presidency of a new committee of national defense.

The new French organization was immediately followed with a demand by the French commissioner of information, Ferni Bonnet, that British and American recognition of the De Gaulle-Giraud setup as a provisional government was "absolutely necessary."

"Our countrymen in France regard recognition as a sign we are fully accepted in Allied ranks," he said. "When French troops land on the shores of France tomorrow, they must go there as the fighting forces of a recognized Allied government."

Previously, De Gaulle and Giraud had maintained separate armed forces. Under the old arrangement as joint presidents of the French committee for national liberation they presided alternately. Now Giraud will preside when the committee deals with military affairs and De Gaulle when it handles civil or political problems. When Giraud is in the field with his troops De Gaulle will preside alone.

French End Dispute; Giraud Heads Armed Forces

While the new organization ends a crisis in French affairs, it remains to be seen how well the rather complicated compromise between De Gaulle and Giraud works out.

The new plan was apparently worked out under the pressure of the Italian situation in order that the French committee would be able to present a unified demand for equal status with other United Nations in determining peace terms for Italy.

TAXICAB FARES ARE REGULAR

Announcement Of Past City Ordinance Made Joint Chamber Meeting

An ordinance regulating taxicab fares in Monroe has been passed by the Council, according to a report by George V. Lofton at a joint meeting of the Junior and Senior members of Commerce held Friday noon at the Chamber's office.

Mr. Lofton, chairman of the taxicab transportation committee, said that beginning in the first zone, a fare of 25c and increasing 25c in each extended zone, the maximum fares now are $1.50 to the sixth zone. A fare of $1.25 will be charged for transportation into the fifth zone, which includes the Charity hospital and points south of the city limits. The maximum fare for one to five passengers into zone 6 is $2.00. It includes Selman field and points of the city limits.

The passage of this ordinance according to Mr. Lofton, was the possible solution to indiscriminate taxicab rates since it is impossible to secure taxicab meters at this time. The ordinance or some form of on cab fares had been requested by Selman field officials and a number of local citizens.

Mr. Lofton expressed his appreciation to the mayor and city commissioners for their cooperation in the passage of the ordinance.

At the joint meeting it was reported that the advertising of the Chamber Commerce in "True Drift," the Selman field publication, which requests manufacturers located there to write the Chamber for a free copy of special industrial prospectus depicting resources and facilities of this area which might be utilized by post war industry has resulted in several requests for the booklet.

Secretary George D. Holland reported that $1,750 had been raised by the Chamber to promote the north east Louisiana livestock show and it was anticipated that the fund would reach $2,000 within a few days.

J. M. Bredt was present at the meeting to request the services of a Secretary Holland for the Ouachita Parish Post-War Planning board to aid them in compiling statistical data which request the board comply with.

A resolution was passed by the board members to request the local office of civilian defense to conduct a survey in the Twin Cities to determine the amount of labor available to harvest farm crops in Ouachita parish. The appointment of a special farm labor committee was authorized to assist in the drafting of plans to import Mexican labor in the event that the survey of local labor determining the need for it.

At this meeting plans were approved for conducting an extensive membership enlargement campaign during the month of August. It was brought out in discussion that there are many firms and professional men in the Twin Cities who are enjoying the benefits of the Chamber of Commerce program without paying their proportionate cost for maintaining the organization. The campaign anticipates a minimum of 100 new members to the Chamber.

Interest in the establishment of north-south airlines through Monroe by two companies was reported by Secretary Holland and after discussion a special aviation committee was authorized with these applications was authorized which will be named by President Sam Smith in the near future.

Also authorized at this meeting was a special committee on navigation which will work towards improvement of navigation facilities on the Ouachita river. President Smith will appoint members to this committee, it was stated.

U. S. EDUCATION AID IS ASKED

State Department Officer Believes In Federal Financing

BATON ROUGE, La., July 31 (AP)—Federal aid for public education was recommended by Dr. J. P. Gibson of the Louisiana state department of education before the annual professional relations conference held at the Louisiana State university last week-end under the auspices of the U. S. U. college education. Dean E. B. Robert of the university presided.

This aid is needed to raise the salaries of teachers, who are leaving the profession not only for industry but because they feel they are giving a greater patriotic service in government, military, or in industry, Dr. Gibson said.

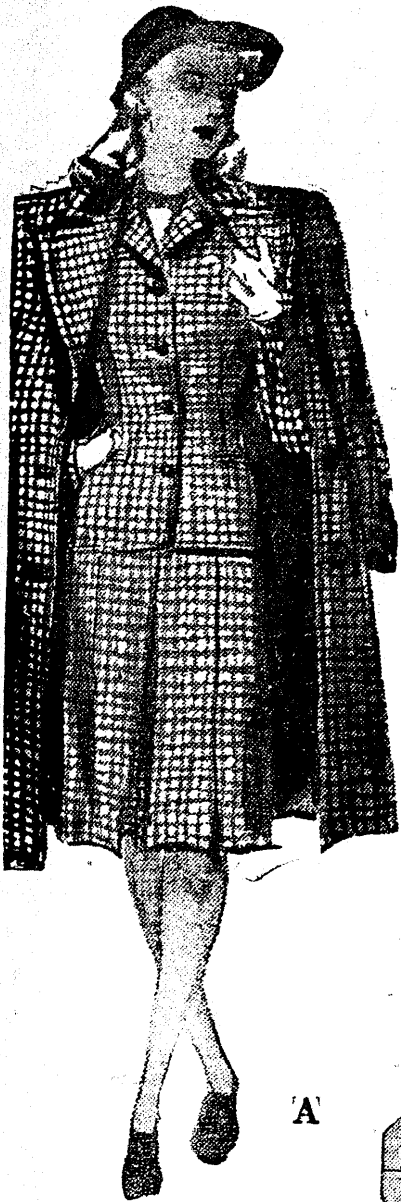

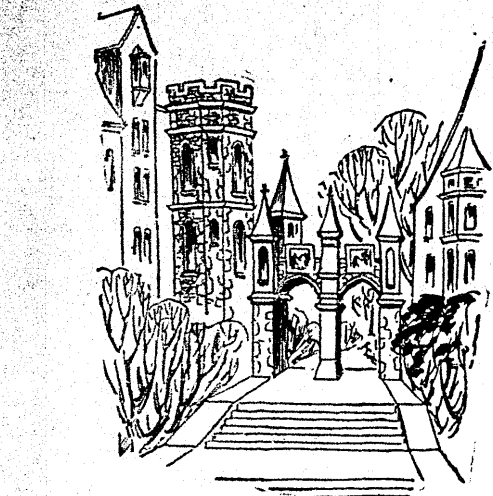

He also strongly recommended registration of teachers and their allocation to work on the basis of special qualifications. Though formal resolutions were adopted, the group recommended that superintendents and other education leaders seek passage of a federal bill through their congressional representatives.

"Substandard" salaries of teachers should at least be raised to a "defensible minimum," said L. P. Terrence, superintendent of education in Iberville parish and a past president of the Louisiana Teachers' association.

Advantages which have come to schools through the war outweigh disadvantages, it was declared by Frank C. Jenkins, director of the Southern Association study, Nashville, Tennessee.

Teachers who have been drawn from many more community activities heretofore should maintain these contacts with the public and get out all possible good for the schools, Dr. Jenkins said.

The Southern association speaker also recommended that a careful study of the results of the wartime curriculum be made as soon as possible so that the good points of such curricula may be preserved for the post-war schools.

LIVESTOCK TO FEATURE FAIR

Exhibition Will Be Of High Educational Value In Wartime

SHREVEPORT, July 31.—The Louisiana State fair, Junior Livestock show, will be held October 23-November 1, inclusive, 1943.

The decision to hold the fair was reached following numerous suggestions urging that the exposition continue its program of education without interruption, as it is needed now more than ever.

The plans for this year's fair will be centered around the efforts of the farm youth of the territory served. It will provide attractive premiums for the exhibition of livestock being produced by the boys and girls and also include classes for canning and other phases of activity so important during the emergency that now exists.

The consensus of opinion as indicated in the numerous letters and other communications received by the state fair management, stressed the importance of urging greater and better production of livestock and agriculture and more important, the fact that education of farm youth should not be interrupted. The state fair, having carried on such programs of education since its inception, should by all means, now more than ever, carry on its traditional activity of improving the living conditions of the territory served by this institution.

In addition to exhibition of products raised by the farm youth, plans are being formulated whereby the exhibition of livestock grown by adult farmers and livestock producers may be permitted. This plan will provide splendid medium by which improved breeding strains may be purchased to improve herds in the territory.

Exhibits will consist of governmental agency displays, commercial, industrial and other types. Plans are now under way to secure an educational display of various activities of the federal government. The armed forces will be represented in displays of armament and other equipment, as well as recruiting booths for both men and women branches of the various services.

Patrons may be assured of a splendid educational program with a variety of wholesome amusement features. It is felt by officials that a well planned program of amusements is very important during these trying times. The management is now in the process of arranging a program which, it is felt, will be welcomed by all visitors.

PARALYSIS CASES TOP RECORD OF NINE YEARS

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP)—Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, says more cases of that disease have occurred in 1943 than for a comparable period during the past nine years. The number of cases is double that of last year at this time.

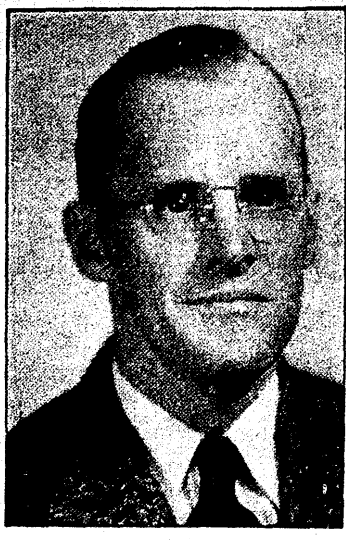

O'Connor warned in a radio address Friday night that the nation may "face a severe test" with the disease, but he added that never in history has a people been so well prepared for such a test.

O'Connor said the paralysis fund was $1,000,000 higher than in any previous year and the number of contributors to the campaign which celebrates the president's birthday anniversary was the highest in history. More than 25,000,000 individuals sent in contributions this year, he added.

FALL OF ITALY WOULD OPEN SEVERAL ROADS INTO EUROPE

By E. C. Daniel

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—"We aren't going that way, old boy."

With a flip of his left hand, the retired British general dismissed the possibility of an Allied invasion of France from prostrate Italy, and with his right hand he traced a sweeping S-like curve on the map before him.

"We are going this way."

His finger ran from Sicily up through Italy across the Adriatic to Yugoslavia and up through the Balkans to Berlin.

The general was gleefully guessing as all London is on which way the Allies would turn from Italy if the Italians should capitulate.

The general belief is that surrender of Italy would draw 21 divisions of the Balkans and leave satellites there militarily at its mercy. It might permit plans to abandon southern Italy.

In spite of this able to disregard the possibility of attack on any one of its five fronts.

All these potentialities are advanced on the assumption that the new Italian government of Premier Pietro Badoglio is only a stopgap which eventually will crumble between the Allies and Germany.

Less rosy are these prospects:

The Axis may fall back to the Po river line, from Genoa through Bologna to Ravenna, and attempt to stall the Allies indefinitely from Italy's northern industrial region.

The Germans might attempt to make a stand alone, disregarding Italian defection. The Nazis certainly prefer to fight the Allies as far away from home as possible—a point which Mr. Churchill has stressed in any case.

From Corsica and northern Italy, the Allies could exact their full aerial superiority over southern France. Both bases are within fighter range, although Corsica has no noteworthy airfields. Sardinia has five, only two of them really good. Both have valuable harbors.

From Italy there are three land routes of attack—through the Alps to France, through the Brenner pass to Germany, and through Venezia to the Balkans. The first two are particularly formidable, however.

Four or five Italian divisions stationed between the Italian border and Toulon would be withdrawn, leaving defense to the Germans, who already are strapped for enough divisions to go around the Toulon perimeter of the European fortresses.

As in the Balkans, undercover resistance to the occupation forces in France undoubtedly would be heightened.

Most significant of all, Germany might be constrained to withdraw some divisions from Western France to reinforce the four or five in southern France thus weakening the forces fronting the Allied armies massing in the British Isles—armies which Mr. Churchill said would be greater even than those of the Mediterranean.

The shock of Italy's collapse, thundering across Europe like a series of jolts passing from one car to another in a railway train, might reach even to Norway, causing the Germans to evacuate their forces there to concentrate on a shorter line in the center of Europe.

At any rate, Allied triumph over Italy would place Germany, for the first time, in a situation of being un-

RODEO WILL BE HELD THIS FALL

Will Be Given In Connection With The State Swine Show

An interesting event held in conjunction with the Northeast Louisiana Swine show, will be the West Monroe championship rodeo to be held on the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds, October 13-17 inclusive. Announcement is made to this effect by Ed Harper, publicity manager for the West Monroe Rodeo, Inc., which will sponsor the rodeo.

Five rodeo shows are planned for as many successive nights.

Mr. Harper assures that arrangements have been effected with George Glascock of Fort Worth for an excellent assortment of bucking horses and Brahmas bulls and negotiations are under way to secure clowns, trick riders and other rodeo performers of note.

The grandstands and bleachers are being renovated for the affair.

GEORGE CAUTIONS ON PRESIDENT'S PLANS

VIENNA, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Senator Walter F. George, Democrat, Georgia, chairman of the senate finance committee, commended Saturday President Roosevelt's six-point plan to aid returning service men, but predicted that the congress would be cautious in expanding the nation's social security program.

Observing that existing laws provide for rehabilitation of soldiers and sailors after the war, George suggested in an interview that the president

"has in mind a greatly-expanded social security program."

"Notwithstanding the great humanitarian impulse to greatly extend the social security system," he continued, "we will proceed slowly in the United States to expand any program which is dependent on a capital levy."

He argued that social security taxes must be paid by business whether it runs in the black or in the red, and thus is capital taxation.

"With a sound system of taxation that allows individuals and business to accumulate reserves, we should be able to provide reasonable employment for our people as we have in the past except in periods of unusual depression. A social security system, properly enacted, would soften the blow in such periods. Any social security system must depend on prosperous business—all business, from farming on up the scale—and if we haven't got prosperous business, we cannot have social security on the European scale."

"If we have prosperous business, we don't need to make the people dependent on their government. That, at least, is the American way, and if that passes we will go to a different social and political system in America."

With a flip of his left hand, the retired British general dismissed the possibility of an Allied invasion of France from prostrate Italy, and with his right hand he traced a sweeping S-like curve on the map before him. "We are going this way."

His finger ran from Sicily up through Italy across the Adriatic to Yugoslavia and up through the Balkans to Berlin.

The general was gleefully guessing—as all London is—on which way the Allies would turn from Italy if the Italians should capitulate.

The general belief is that surrender of Italy would draw 27 divisions of the Balkans and leave the satellites there militarily and politically limp. It might permit the Allies to abandon Sicily entirely.

In spite of this, the general was not at all sure that the Allies would turn from Italy if the Italians should capitulate.

From Corsica and northern Italy, the Allies could exert their full aerial superiority over southern France. Both bases are within fighter range, although Corsica has no noteworthy airfields. Sardinia has five, only two of them really good. Both have valuable harbors.

From Italy there are three land routes of attack—through the Alps to France, through the Brenner pass to Germany, and through Venezia to the Balkans. The first two are particularly forbidding, however.

Four or five Italian divisions remaining of the eight originally stationed between the Italian border and Toulon would be withdrawn, leaving defense to the Germans, who already are straggled for enough divisions to go around the Taut perimeter of the European fortress.

As in the Balkans, undercover resistance to the occupation forces in France undoubtedly would be heightened.

Most significant of all, Germany might be constrained to withdraw some divisions from Western France to reinforce the four or five in southern France, thus weakening the forces fronting the Allied armies massing in the British Isles—armies which Mr. Churchill said would be greater even than those of the Mediterranean.

The shock of Italy's collapse, thundering across Europe like a series of jolts passing from one car to another in a railway train, might reach even to Norway, causing the Germans to evacuate their forces there to concentrate on a shorter line in the center of Europe.

At any rate, Allied triumph over Italy would place Germany, for the first time, in a situation of being unable to disregard the possibility of attack on any one of its five fronts.

All these potentialities are advanced on the assumption that the new Italian government of Premier Pietro Badoglio is only a stopgap which eventually will crumble between the Allies and Germany.

Less rosy are these prospects: The Axis may fall back to the Po river line from Genoa through Bologna to Ravenna, and attempt to stall the Allies indefinitely from Italy's northern industrial region.

The Germans might attempt to make a stand alone, disregarding Italian defection. The Nazis certainly prefer to fight the Allies as far away from home as possible—a point which Mr. Churchill has stressed.

The main force of the German army is standing, but the demonstration of the positive qualities of leadership.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Williams, Motor courts, Bedford, Pa.

Despite the uninviting marshiness of the coast and German concentrations around Marseilles and Toulon, occupied by the Nazis only since last November, it obviously is not fortified or organized as impressively as the vaunted Atlantic wall. And General Giraud and his 300,000 men who are being retrained by the Allies talk confidently of a return to their homeland—not a roundabout expedition to the Balkans.

Reuters quoted recent reports from France through Switzerland as suggesting the Germans were taking this into account by concentrating their southern French defenses around the Lyons rail center, which would serve as a main depot for the whole area.

Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica and the Italian mainland all could be employed by the Allies as intermediary bases for any such invasion, which also might be timed handily with an attack from the west.

The strain of sustaining a major effort 2,000 to 4,000 miles from main supply sources in Britain and the United States is obviously great—but it already has been done to a limited extent in North Africa and Sicily.

The Evening Standard military correspondent has estimated it would take a pool of 400 ships on constant service to keep 1,000,000 men supplied, and compared this task with the short German overland shipping lines.

The R. A. F. and U. S. A. A. F. could use their bombers to cut down this German advantage sharply with attacks on the already creaking Nazi transport network.

GEORGE CAUTIONS ON PRESIDENT'S PLANS

VIENNA, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Senator Walter F. George, Democrat, Georgia, chairman of the senate finance committee, commended Saturday President Roosevelt's six-point plan to aid returning service men, but predicted that the congress would be cautious in expanding the nation's social security program.

Observing that existing laws provide for rehabilitation of soldiers and sailors after the war, George suggested in an interview that the president

"has in mind a greatly-expanded social security program."

"Notwithstanding the great humanitarian impulse to greatly extend the social security system," he continued, "we will proceed slowly in the United States to expand any program which is dependent on a capital levy."

He argued that social security taxes must be paid by business whether it runs in the black or in the red, and thus is capital taxation.

"With a sound system of taxation that allows individuals and business to accumulate reserves, we should be able to provide reasonable employment for our people as we have in the past except in periods of unusual depression. A social security system, properly enacted, would soften the blow in such periods. Any social security system must depend on prosperous business—all business, from farming on up the scale—and if we haven't got prosperous business, we cannot have social security on the European scale.

"If we have prosperous business, we don't need to make the people dependent on their government. That, at least, is the American way, and if that passes we will go to a different social and political system in America."

Lieut. J. H. Jacobs is Assistant Commanding Officer

RUSTON, La., July 31.—(Special)—Lieutenant (j. g.) John H. Jacobs, who in civilian life was the librarian of the New Orleans Public Library, is the assistant commanding officer of the Navy V-12 unit at Louisiana Tech. His duties include those of public relations officer of the unit.

After receiving a B. S. degree from the State Teachers college at Memphis, Mr. Jacobs attended Peabody college, the University of Akron and the University of Tennessee. Later he received the A. B. degree in library science from Emory university.

A native of Bolivar, Tenn., Mr. Jacobs taught in elementary schools and high schools in Tennessee from 1923-30, after which he served as librarian in the Collierville (Tenn.) high school for two years.

Mr. Jacobs was director of the Shelby county (Tenn.) libraries from 1934-38 and since that time served as librarian at New Orleans. He is a member of the American Library association, the Louisiana Library club, the Young Men's Business club of New Orleans and a member of the council of the chamber of commerce at New Orleans.

In recent years Mr. Jacobs prepared a questionnaire for library school superintendents. He has written several magazine articles, one of which, "Valuable Old Books," appeared recently in the Louisiana Library Bulletin.

Mr. Jacobs entered naval training at Columbia university in April of this year and was commissioned a junior grade lieutenant. His first assignment was with the V-12 unit at Tech.

He was inducted into the army at Shreveport, La., June 28.

PAUL D. FITZGERALD

A Jackson, Miss., newspaper the past week printed the following concerning Paul D. Fitzgerald, now of Summit, Miss., but formerly of Monroe. His wife is still a resident here residing on Pear street:

"In a co-ordinated air and surface attack in the south Atlantic, two U. S. Navy bombers crippled a German submarine with bombs and machine guns, and two U. S. destroyers completed the destruction."

"Serving in one of the two Martin bombers was Lieutenant (j. g.) Paul D. Fitzgerald of Summit."

"Sighted the day before, but escaping, the sub was found again after patrol aircraft had scouted all night. Then the two bombers attacked. They bombed and strafed the sub, which heavily damaged, surfaced then and tried four times to immerse. After half an hour, when it was apparent that the enemy craft could not get away, the planes led the destroyers to the scene. Five direct hits from the destroyer's guns finished off the sub. The survivors were picked up."

RAY SHERRARD

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 31.—(Special)—Ray Sherrard, well known West Monroe youth and former pitcher for the Ouachita Parish High school baseball team, this week became a member of the United States Marine corps through the New Orleans recruiting and induction station.

Private Sherrard pitched and played outfield for the Ouachita nine for three years, and was a member of the North Louisiana championship team of 1940. The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sherrard, 211 Filhiol, West Monroe.

Upon induction here, Sherrard asked to be assigned to the marine corps and was accepted by the Leathernecks.

He was administered the oath by Captain Leland P. Bannister, officer in charge of the New Orleans district. Following a brief furlough granted by the marines, Private Sherrard will be transferred to San Diego, Calif., where he will take basic training.

ENSIGN DAVIS

Elizabeth Davis has been commissioned ensign, USNR. She was assigned to active duty July 27. Her home address is 405 North Sixth street, West Monroe, La. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis.

Ensign Davis attended Northeast Junior college of L. S. U. at Monroe. Before enlisting she was employed at the office of land-lease administration, secretary to administrative officer, Washington, D. C., and by the war production board, Washington.

LIEUTENANT THOMPSON

NAPIER FIELD, Dothan, Ala.—Aviation Cadet Raymond Farris Thompson, formerly of Monroe, today received the silver wings of an Army Air Forces pilot and was commissioned a second lieutenant at the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying school, Napier field, Dothan, Ala.

Impressive ceremony marked the completion of his advanced flying training. Colonel James L. Daniel, Jr., commanding officer, and a veteran army flier, presented pilot wings to the graduates and made the congratulatory address at services in front of post headquarters.

Son of Mrs. Lenora Harris, Washington, D. C., Lieutenant Thompson attended the Ouachita Parish High school, and is a graduate of the Eastern High school, Washington. He entered the armed service September 28, 1942, flying training.

PLAN TO MEET POST-WAR MONEY PROBLEMS GIVEN

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 31.—(P)—Charles G. Johnson, for 21 years state treasurer of California, proposed Saturday in a letter to President Roosevelt that the United States examine the possibility of meeting post-war financial problems by an upward revaluation of gold, in terms of the dollar.

It is inevitable, Johnson asserted in a treatise which he enclosed in his letter, that an after-the-war development will be the adoption of a world wide monetary system, based upon a universal standard of value.

Gold, he declared, will undoubtedly be that standard since "the world has learned from past experience that all other mediums have resulted in chaos."

There are 11,300 parts required for a center fuselage section and nose section of the Martin medium bomber.

Asthma Mucus Loosened & Sound Sleep Promoted First Night For Thousands of Sufferers

Choking, gasping, wheezing, recurring attacks of bronchial asthma ruin your sleep and rob your blood of vitality. Important because you can't get air in and out of your lungs properly. But now it is no longer necessary to suffer from these terrible attacks without the benefit you may receive from a physician's prescription called Meudane. Within a very short time after the first dose, Meudane ingredients start cutting thru the blood, thus reaching the smallest as well as the largest bronchial tubes where they usually quickly help loosen mucus (spitting), thereby promoting freer breathing and more restful sleep. In fact, Meudane has proved so successful in helping thousands of sufferers from recurring attacks of bronchial asthma that it is sold under a guarantee of money back unless completely satisfactory. So get Meudane from your druggist today.

Margaret A. Dixon et al sold to the Peoples Homestead and Savings association a certain lot in the south half of square 36, D. A. Beaudry, Jr.'s Home addition for $8,000, and the property in turn was deeded to Ivey A. Faulk for the same consideration.

The Monroe Building and Loan association sold to Lynn L. Johnson lot 9, block 5, Austin-Fly's First Southern addition to West Monroe for $2,500.

OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

SERGEANT WILLBANKS
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Sam J. Willbanks, Jr., former of box 387, Monroe, La., presently stationed at the Air Depot Training station of the army air forces here, has been promoted from the rank of corporal to the rank of sergeant. Sergeant Willbanks is assigned to the Repair Squadron, 60th Air Depot group, and is serving as administrative and technical clerk with his organization. Before entering the air forces on October 17, 1942, Sergeant Willbanks was clerk-typist at W. M. Kellogg Co., Sterling, La.

PRIVATE WILLIAMS
GALESBURG, Ill.—Private Sam W. Williams, Jr., 23, of Monroe, La., husband of Jean F. Williams, 33 Hansen avenue, Fairview, Mass., has arrived at Knox college for course of army air force instruction lasting approximately five months prior to his appointment as an aviation cadet in the army air forces. During this period he will take numerous academic courses, as well as elementary flying training. Upon completion of the course he will be classified as a pilot, navigator or bombardier and go on to schools of the flying training command for training in these specialties.

CADET CRENSHAW
STROTHER ARMY AIR FIELD, Kans.—Another big class of Uncle Sam's aviation cadets, Class 43-1, was graduated this week from this prairie-state army basic flying school to the advanced and final stage of training. After 10 hours aloft in Vultee Valiants and as many more hours in ground school and instrument instruction, spread over their nine and one-half weeks' stay here, they move on to an advanced field, either single-engine pursuit or twin-engine bombardier training. With a commission in the army air corps and their silver pilot's wings in sight, these young sky hawks soon will be winging out to victory over the Axis with their buddies now across the waters and already in action.

Class 43-1 graduates from Louisiana included: Claude James Crenshaw, son of Walter G. Crenshaw of 106 Egan street, Monroe. Cadet Crenshaw was graduated from the Ouachita parish high school of Monroe with the class of 1936. For a time thereafter he was engaged in produce farming and more recently in wholesale business. He began his cadet training at San Antonio last November and came to Strotter field from the primary training school at Chickasha, Okla.

CORPORAL BARKER
CHANUTE FIELD, Ill.—Corporal Julius Barker, son of N. C. Barker, 2203 South Gra d, Monroe, has completed training and has been graduated from this school of the army air forces technical training command.

While attending this army air forces technical training command school he received instruction in the advanced instrument course, and in various technical operations vital to the maintenance of the country's fighting planes.

CORPORAL WILLIAMS
FORT KNOX, Ky.—Private First Class Jack A. Williams of West Monroe, has been promoted to corporal as a result not only of his personal diligent efforts and co-operation in the maintenance of the battalion's superior standing, but also of his demonstration of the positive qualities of leadership.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Williams, Motor corps, Bedford, Pa.

TECHNICAL SERGEANT COLEMAN
COLUMBIA, Mo.—Coleman Barwell of 3861 Lee avenue, who enlisted in the regular army, engineering department, over three years ago, is now stationed in Alaska, where he recently was awarded the rank of technical sergeant.

He has many friends here as well as his wife. She was formerly Miss Katie Lankford of Marion, La.

PRIVATE BUBB
FORT SILL, Okla.—Nathaniel B. Bubb, son of Mrs. Florence H. Bubb, 1383 Spencer street, Monroe, La., has arrived at the Field Artillery Replacement Training center, Fort Sill, Okla., where he will receive his 13-weeks of basic training.

Private Bubb has been attached to Battery B, 32d Battalion, 8th Training Regiment.

He was inducted into the army at Shreveport, La., June 29, 1943.

CLYDE W. BENSON
Clyde W. Benson is now an aviation student at the A. and M. college in Stillwater, Okla. He spent six weeks in basic training at Sheppard field, Texas. He is a graduate of Ouachita parish high school, class of 1942. He started in summer school at Northeast Junior college in 1942 and continued there until he left on June 2, 1943, taking an air corps examination. He will spend five months at A. and M. college and then will start pre-flight training.

He is a nephew of Miss Ruth Webb, of Monroe.

BUBB BROTHERS SERVE
Mrs. Florence Bubb of Monroe has four sons in armed service. These are as follows:

- 1.—N. B. (Sonny) Bubb, third, now at the Field Artillery Replacement Training center, Fort Sill, Okla., where he will receive his 13 weeks of basic training. He was inducted into the army at Camp Beauregard, July 13.
- 2.—George L. Bubb, fireman first class, Seabees, New River, N. C.
- 3.—Albert H. Bubb, Jr., now in Seward, Alaska, has been in service 16 months with coast guard. He is seaman, first class.
- 4.—Private Walter H. Bubb is at Fort Lawton, Seattle, Wash., with the signal air warning corps, 12th detachment.

CADET WOODHEAD
Robert F. Woodhead, 21, son of Mrs. Ethel M. Woodhead of Sterling, was recently appointed a naval aviation cadet and was transferred to the Naval Air Training center, Pensacola, Fla., for intermediate flight training.

Prior to entering the naval service he attended Northeast Junior college for two years.

Upon completion of the intensive course at the "Annapolis of the Air" Cadet Woodhead will receive his navy "Wings of Gold" with the designation of naval aviator, and will be commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve or a second lieutenant in the marine corps reserve.

CADET RIDDLE
CAMDEN, S. C.—Cadet David E. Riddle, Jr., of Monroe, La., yesterday at a graduating ceremony for Class 43-K, was awarded the outstanding cadet medal by Tom Mott of Southern Aviation school.

Cadet Riddle, prior to becoming a cadet, was a member of an air crew, and holds an air crew members wings. In civilian life he was a bookkeeper for the Arkansas Fuel and Oil company in Monroe.

At Maxwell field, Cadet Riddle was group commander and at primary here he served as cadet lieutenant. He is the son of Mrs. J. C. Ray, 318 Broad street, Monroe. Mrs. Riddle, the former Jean Carter, of Monroe, is with her husband.

Cadet Riddle will be stationed at Shaw field, Sumter, S. C., for his basic training.

PRIVATE LEE R. CANTRELL
FORT KNOX, Ky.—A new class of armor-clerks from armored command units throughout the United States, acting upon orders from Major General Alvan C. Gillen, Jr., chief of the armored command, had enrolled today at the armored school for a special course in the clerical department.

Among the new students were Private Lee R. Cantrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Cantrell, 2310 Gordon avenue, Monroe.

The intensive 8-week course trains personnel to carry on the typing and clerical tasks of army administrative procedure. Students learn to write correct military letters, to keep military records and handle payrolls. Able to type at least 30 words a minute before beginning the course, they receive instruction and practice to bring up their typing speed.

The department is one of nine in the mammoth armored school. This unique college for the army's mechanized warriors trains many thousands more students annually than the largest civilian college or university. Commandant of the school is Brigadier General J. A. Holly.

PRIVATE FIELDS
FORT SILL, Okla.—Edward D. Fields, son of Charles W. Fields, Route 1, Mangham, La., has arrived at the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center, Fort Sill, Okla., where he will receive his 13 weeks of basic training.

Private Fields has been attached to Battery D, 19th Battalion.

He was inducted into the army at Shreveport, La., June 28.

PAUL D. FITZGERALD
A Jackson, Miss., newspaper the past week printed the following concerning Paul D. Fitzgerald, now of Summit, Miss., but formerly of Monroe. His wife is still a resident here residing on Pear street:

"In a co-ordinated air and surface attack in the south Atlantic, two U. S. Navy bombers crippled a German submarine with bombs and machine guns and two U. S. destroyers completed the destruction."

"Serving in one of the two Martin bombers was Lieutenant (j. g.) Paul D. Fitzgerald of Summit.

"Sighted the day before, but escaping, the sub was found again after control aircraft had scouted all night. Then the two bombers attacked. They bombed and strafed the sub, which heavily damaged, surfaced then and tried four times to immerse. After half an hour, when it was apparent that the enemy craft could not get away, the planes led the destroyers to the scene. Five direct hits from the destroyer's guns finished off the sub. The survivors were picked up."

RAY SHERRARD
NEW ORLEANS, La., July 31.—(Special)—Ray Sherrard, well known West Monroe youth and former pitcher for the Ouachita Parish high school baseball team, this week became a member of the United States Marine corps through the New Orleans recruiting and induction station.

Private Sherrard pitched and played outfield for the Ouachita nine for three years and was a member of the North Louisiana championship team of 1940. The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sherrard, 211 Filhol, West Monroe.

Upon induction here, Sherrard asked to be assigned to the marine corps and was accepted by the Leathernecks. He was administered the oath by Captain Leland P. Bannister, officer in charge of the New Orleans district. Following a brief furlough granted by the marines, Private Sherrard will be transferred to San Diego, Calif., where he will take basic training.

ENSIGN DAVIS
Elizabeth Davis has been commissioned ensign, USNR. She was assigned to active duty July 27. Her home address is 405 North Sixth street, West Monroe, La. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis.

Ensign Davis attended Northeast Junior college of L. S. U., at Monroe. Before enlisting she was employed at the office of lend-lease administration, secretary to administrative officer, Washington, D. C., and by the war production board, Washington.

LIEUTENANT THOMPSON
NAPIER FIELD, Dothan, Ala.—Aviation Cadet Raymond Farris Thompson, formerly of Monroe, today received the silver wings of an Army Air Forces pilot and was commissioned a second lieutenant at the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying school, Napier field, Dothan, Ala.

Impressive ceremony marked the completion of his advanced flying training. Colonel James L. Daniel, Jr., commanding officer and a veteran army flier, presented pilot wings to the graduates and made the congratulatory address at services in front of post headquarters.

Son of Mrs. Lieutenant Harris, Washington, D. C., Lieutenant Thompson attended the Ouachita Parish High school, and is a graduate of the Eastern High school, Washington. He entered the armed service September 25, 1942 for flying training.

PLAN TO MEET POST-WAR MONEY PROBLEMS GIVEN
SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 31.—(AP)—Charles G. Johnson, for 21 years state treasurer of California, proposed Saturday in a letter to President Roosevelt that the United States examine the possibility of meeting post-war financial problems by an upward revaluation of gold, in terms of the dollar.

It is inevitable, Johnson asserted in a treatise which he enclosed in his letter, that an after-the-war development will be the adoption of "a world wide monetary system, based upon a universal standard of value."

Gold, he declared, will undoubtedly be that standard since "the world has learned from past experience that all other mediums have resulted in chaos."

There are 11,500 parts required for a center fuselage section and nose section of the Martin bomber.

IN SO.

Corporal Paul Hawkins (above), of this city, who is with the chemical warfare section at an army base in the south Atlantic. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Hawkins of 210 Louisville avenue, Monroe. Corporal Hawkins graduated this year in engineering at Northeast Junior college. He was a member of the Engineers' club and the Men's chorus.

Monroe Squadron To Recruiting Young For Aviat

The Monroe Squadron is recruiting young men for aviation. Air patrol is a thrilling job. If you are interested, contact the squadron at the city hall.

moving places of assault. Men are in this job and for the next job to come up.

To help on this job, all men over 18 years whose past experience has been on construction and with construction equipment, are eligible for duty in the corps of engineers. The objective set is for the enlistment of 9,000 specialists a month until further notice.

Rapid advancement in grade and the opportunity to attend engineer officer candidate school are within the easy grasp of men with previous construction experience, the area engineer stated.

Applications will be accepted by the area engineer at Shreveport and if qualifications are acceptable, men will be assigned to the induction center as a prelude to regular assignment to duty. Further information can be had by calling the office of the area engineer. His phone is County 9700.

The following engineers were accepted the past week: James Cecil Johnson, Box 790, Monroe (tractor driver); Lonzo M. Pierce, Jr., R. F. D., Ruston (woodworking machine operator); Roy M. Runyon, general delivery, Jonesboro (combination welder); Clarence Taylor, 918 Oak street, Monroe, (general painter); Willie Herbert Stamper, 208 South Sixth street, Monroe, (heavy truck driver); Leon Davis, 907 Pine street, Monroe, (heavy truck driver); Walter Edgar Beard, 709 Arkansas, Monroe, (foreman, machinist); Bell Curry, general delivery, West Monroe, (heavy truck driver).

The municipal system traffic of Washington, D. C., went up 13.1 per cent since 1938, the last "normal" year.

Listed as a heavy-duty bomber, the B-29, a midwing monoplane, carries a disposable load of 19,200 pounds.

clses, there will be refreshments served at the Knights of Columbus hall.

CAP WILL HELP CADET PROGRAM

Monroe Squadron To Aid In Recruiting Young Men
For Aviation

The Monroe Squadron of the Civil Air patrol last week announced, through its commanding officer, William F. Henley, that it was ready to cooperate in every way to bring to the attention of air-minded young men in the Monroe area the advantages of the army air forces aviation cadet program.

Meanwhile the authorities at Selman field announced that 35 young men, 15 civilians and 20 enlisted men at the field, had recently qualified for appointment as aviation cadets.

Any young man in this area can take the mental and physical examination required for qualification as an aviation cadet, through the aviation cadet examining board, at Selman field. Lieutenant Russell S. Young is the recorder of the board, and can be reached by phoning 6400, extension 319.

Before a man is permitted to take the mental and physical tests, however, he is given visual acuity and color discrimination tests.

Through the efforts of the civil air patrol, a young man need not go all the way out to Selman field for these eye tests now, but may have them given free by Dr. Bert Heinberg, Bernhard building, phone 4886. Dr. Heinberg gives examinations for the CAP.

Once he has passed the eye test, the applicant may go out to Selman field for the mental examination, which is not difficult for a man of normal intelligence, and the physical examination, which is relatively easy for a young man in normal health.

Officers of the Monroe squadron have offered to give advice and information on the aviation cadet program to any person desiring it.

Such assistance can be obtained from the following persons:

Mr. Henley, commanding officer, 1312 Forsythe, phone 1790.

Harold Meuk, executive officer, Gregg and McKenzie, 313 Harrison street, phone 473.

Miss Mary Benoit, adjutant, city hall, phone 1904.

R. M. Troy, transportation officer, Ouachita Bank building, phone 3002.

Dean C. C. Colbert, intelligence officer, Northeast Junior college, phone 4200.

Henry Hinkle, operations and training officer, Columbia road, phone 1814-J.

Miss Olive Lusk, supply officer, Northeast Junior college, phone 4200.

John P. McKee, communications officer, 1109 North Second street, West Monroe, phone 3341-W.

O. N. McNeil, public relations officer, Central Savings bank, phone 3381.

Kenneth Elliott, flight leader, Twin City Tire store, phone 411.

Harry Schroeder, flight leader, 405 North Seventh street, West Monroe, phone 2570.

Of those who have been given certificates of qualification for aviation cadet training, four were 17 years old but not yet 18. They were sworn into the air corps enlisted reserve by Lieutenant Young at Selman field, many, upon reaching their eighteenth birthdays, ask for deferments up to six months.

They are:

"John K. Bryan, route 2, box 127, Winnboro; John F. Hardin, Jr., 401 Hiltone avenue, Monroe; George B. Holt, route 3, box 67, Monroe; and Jerome S. Grayson, 605 Alabama street, Monroe.

Eleven others to qualify were civilians aged 18 to 26 years. These, who volunteered before being called for induction by their draft boards, will go to the boards with certificates of qualification and will be sent to Fort Hump in Shreveport for induction. They will return here as members of the air corps enlisted reserve, to await a call to report for pre-aviation cadet training.

They are:

James N. Boam, box 115, Delhi; Steve E. Cook, box 533, Rayville; Du-luth G. Cooper, Jr., Hodges; Johnnie L. Douglas, box 892, Monroe; Milo L. Haynes, Lisbon; William B. Ladd, III, Lexington, Mass.; Charles E. Lucas, box 3487, West Monroe; Clifford R. Mobley, route 1, box 334, Lake Providence; George H. Roberts, 1114 Louisiana avenue, Monroe; John M. Spencer, box 75, Spencer; and John D. Wallerson, route 1, box 44, Winnboro.

Enlisted men from Selman field who qualified are to be sent to pre-aviation cadet training at other stations.

They are:

Staff Sergeant Roy F. Blinstrup, Private First Class Arthur L. Brewer, Alfred P. Cline, Sergeant Zane J. Czaplinski, Private Paul P. Farber, Private Delmar L. Deems, Melvin Edelstein, Private William C. Elias, Corporal Gerald L. Guppy, Hebert R. Joiner, Private Kenneth H. Kilian, Corporal George F. Moyer, II, Samuel G. Peets, Glenn D. Rogers, Corporal Frank H. St. John, Staff Sergeant Otto F. Salcher, Edward W. Smith, Private First Class Frank A. Toth, Richard B. Weaver and Private First Class Samuel E. Wilder.

BRITISH CABINET

pletely unrelated to the reality of the situation.

Italian troops were reported evacuating from an area in the Balkans toward the home front, but word reaching Cairo indicated that they were clashing with German forces at their withdrawal.

Unrest seemed through most of Italy and the Balkans as well.

Slovene guerrillas were reported victorious in a battle inside Italy. And a crisis was threatened in a German Bulgarian government over a German demand that Bulgaria troops replace Italians withdrawing from Greece.

Bern reported that German civilians have been instructed to leave northern Italian cities, notably Milan, and the Italians were attempting meantime to get their nationals out of Germany.

The consensus in London is that Badoglio has been hoping to obtain a negotiated peace, but that intense pressure is making it extremely difficult for him to delay the war-or-peace decision.

ELEVEN MORE SIGN UP WITH ENGINEERS

Eleven more men from this vicinity have signed up with the corps of engineers in the past few days, according to Captain Otis P. Johnson, Jr., area engineer at Selman field.

All of the men, four of whom are from Monroe and West Monroe, will go to Camp Claiborne, there to join the engineer unit training center, for further training in the jobs they will do for the army service forces.

The men are:

Luckett D. Beaver, Route 1, Box 98, Pineville, who will go as a tractor driver.

Milo M. Blackstock, 1904 DeSard street, combination welder.

Samuel E. Brown, Grayson, crane operator.

Charles V. Domino, 116 South Washington street, Bastrop, machinist helper.

Drewery W. Horne, Route 1, West Monroe, power linesman.

Charles M. Jackson, Gilbert, mechanic repairman.

Walter C. Jenkins, 215 Adams street, mechanic repairman.

Elton R. Marsh, Roosevelt, heavy truck driver.

Roy Patton, Clarks, electric air welder.

Noel H. Wilkins, 406 LaSalle street, Tishulah, electric air welder.

Charles M. Yates, Globe hotel, Monroe, combination welder.

These men are going into the same army service forces that helped fuel United Nations bombers striking at Mediterranean targets by laying portable pipeline from North African harbors to interior air fields.

To enjoy the privilege of wearing the uniform of the corps of engineers, men in this area should call the office of the area engineer at Selman field, telephone 6709.

DEATHS

INFANT CAGLE

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cagle of Route 3, Monroe, who died in a local hospital Friday, was held in Springhill cemetery Saturday morning with Rev. Henry Berry, of Swartz, officiating.

Besides the parents, the surviving family members include the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Cagle, Route 2, Monroe, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. May of Brownville.

MRS. J. R. LEE

has no choice but continuation of the war with all its forces," the broadcast said. The Allies, it added, were making "not an offer of peace but an offer of war."

The Allied proclamation said:

"Italians, you know that on July 23 we let up on the aerial bombardment of Italy," the proclamation read. "We hoped thereby to give Italy a breathing space wherein to unite for peace and freedom."

But the Germans, too, had used the time, it said.

When Germans in Italy heard of Mussolini's fall they said to themselves that they were "caught like rats in a trap," the broadcast continued, but now they had regained their insolent attitude toward Italians. It concluded:

"And for that full and sole responsibility rests with the new government in Rome. Had that government acted speedily Germany by now would be in full retreat."

"But instead the new government temporized. It missed the opportunity. It permitted the Germans to recover."

"Italians, we cannot tolerate this and we issue you this solemn warning: The breathing space is ended. Be prepared."

Just a few days before Premier Pietro Badoglio had taken over the reins from Benito Mussolini.

Just 12 days ago 300 American bombers and 200 fighters participated in the bombing of Rome.

The stern reminder was broadcast to Italians at 7 p.m. and was to be followed by a similar barrage from London and Washington.

A preview of the renewed onslaught was given Friday when American Mitchell's swept to within 11 miles south of Rome to bomb the Pratica Di Mare airbase, and Flying Fortresses rained sledgehammer blows on the Grottaglie airport near Taranto in Southern Italy.

The warning, a 48-hour follow up of General Eisenhower's declaration that Italians must get rid of Germans on their soil—came as it was announced that both American and British armies in Sicily had made good advances behind terrific artillery barrages which blasted out areas 400 yards deep before time for the infantry mop-up.

Relentlessly American motor torpedo boat squadrons and British naval detachments were boxing in the cramped northeastern corner of the island, darting into gulfs and harbors along the north coast and even 30 miles up the mainland shore, bombarding the mainland and east Sicilian coast and sweeping narrow, two-mile wide Messina strait.

Three more Italian islands—Favignana, Levanzo and Marattimo—off Sicily's west coast, accepted the unconditional surrender formula of the United Nations and ran up the white flag.

The British Eighth army of General Bernard Montgomery for the first time in weeks made "good progress" Friday up the Sicilian east coast toward Catania and Mt. Etna, while the American Seventh army of Lieutenant General George S. Patton, Jr., driving to a junction with the British at Messina, plunged deeper into the intervening mountains fringing the north coast.

The Canadians at the central pivot position, smashed through Agrigento and air and artillery barrage described by German veterans as worse than anything they had lived through in Russia or North Africa.

The Americans, capturing their first sizable bunch of Germans in Sicily, listed more than 200 Nazis among nearly 1,800 more prisoners taken in their sector.

Following the pattern of their Tunisian break-through to Mateur, General Patton's artillerymen laid down a bone-crushing barrage which leveled pillboxes and trenches in a 400-yard area, and then the infantry rushed in 100 yards behind the rolling curtain of fire and overran the defenders before they could recover.

But the Germans, too, had used the time, it said.

"Italians, we cannot tolerate this and we issue you this solemn warning: The breathing space is ended. Be prepared."

Just a few days before Premier Pietro Badoglio had taken over the reins from Benito Mussolini.

Just 12 days ago 300 American bombers and 200 fighters participated in the bombing of Rome.

The stern reminder was broadcast to Italians at 7 p.m. and was to be followed by a similar barrage from London and Washington.

A preview of the renewed onslaught was given Friday when American Mitchell's swept to within 11 miles south of Rome to bomb the Pratica Di Mare airbase, and Flying Fortresses rained sledgehammer blows on the Grottaglie airport near Taranto in Southern Italy.

The warning, a 48-hour follow up of General Eisenhower's declaration that Italians must get rid of Germans on their soil—came as it was announced that both American and British armies in Sicily had made good advances behind terrific artillery barrages which blasted out areas 400 yards deep before time for the infantry mop-up.

Relentlessly American motor torpedo boat squadrons and British naval detachments were boxing in the cramped northeastern corner of the island, darting into gulfs and harbors along the north coast and even 30 miles up the mainland shore, bombarding the mainland and east Sicilian coast and sweeping narrow, two-mile wide Messina strait.

Three more Italian islands—Favignana, Levanzo and Marattimo—off Sicily's west coast, accepted the unconditional surrender formula of the United Nations and ran up the white flag.

The British Eighth army of General Bernard Montgomery for the first time in weeks made "good progress" Friday up the Sicilian east coast toward Catania and Mt. Etna, while the American Seventh army of Lieutenant General George S. Patton, Jr., driving to a junction with the British at Messina, plunged deeper into the intervening mountains fringing the north coast.

The Canadians at the central pivot position, smashed through Agrigento and air and artillery barrage described by German veterans as worse than anything they had lived through in Russia or North Africa.

The Americans, capturing their first sizable bunch of Germans in Sicily, listed more than 200 Nazis among nearly 1,800 more prisoners taken in their sector.

Following the pattern of their Tunisian break-through to Mateur, General Patton's artillerymen laid down a bone-crushing barrage which leveled pillboxes and trenches in a 400-yard area, and then the infantry rushed in 100 yards behind the rolling curtain of fire and overran the defenders before they could recover.

But the Germans, too, had used the time, it said.

When Germans in Italy heard of Mussolini's fall they said to themselves that they were "caught like rats in a trap," the broadcast continued, but now they had regained their insolent attitude toward Italians. It concluded:

"And for that full and sole responsibility rests with the new government in Rome. Had that government acted speedily Germany by now would be in full retreat."

"But instead the new government temporized. It missed the opportunity. It permitted the Germans to recover."

"Italians, we cannot tolerate this and we issue you this solemn warning: The breathing space is ended. Be prepared."

Miss Carrie Jo Hill Marries Lieutenant Uriah M. Youngblood Wednesday

Couple To Make Home Temporarily In Texas

Wedding Solemnized At Presbyterian Church With Rev. Holloway Officiating

A wartime wedding, characterized by simplicity yet not lacking in beauty of detail and dignity of ceremony took place at the First Presbyterian church, Wednesday morning, July 28, at 11 o'clock, when Miss Carrie Jo Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Hill of Riverton, La., became the bride of Lieutenant Uriah Millsaps Youngblood, son of Mr. Claud Youngblood and the late Mrs. Ruth Millsaps Youngblood of Shreveport.

Reverend Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

Pale pink gladioli were arranged with considerable artistry against a background of palms and tapers flaming high in wrought iron candelabra. Pedestal baskets overflowing with pink gladioli formed a semi-circle for the wedding party.

While the guests were seated the organist, Leon Hammond, rendered a brilliant pre-nuptial concert.

The bride's attendant, her sister, Mrs. Richard Kellogg, wore an advanced full Arthur Waise model of tobacco brown with off-the-face, feather trimmed, brown hat. All accessories were of brown with a corsage of orchids adding a distinctive note.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Herbert Youngblood.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a distinctive advanced full Eisenberg model of dark brown crepe with blouse of turquoise blue. All accessories were of brown including a flattering hat with short veil. Her corsage was of orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left via the motor route for Dallas, Texas, where they will spend a short honeymoon before leaving for Pampa, Texas, where Lieutenant Youngblood will be stationed.

The bride is one of the most popular members of Monroe's younger set. She is a graduate of Northeast Junior college where she was a member of the Purple Jackets. She is also a member of the Junior Charity League and the Splinter club.

Lieutenant Youngblood attended George Washington university in Washington, D. C., and the Louisiana State university in Baton Rouge. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Millsaps, pioneer citizens of this city where they were prominently identified with the civic and cultural life of this parish. Mr. Millsaps established the Central Savings Bank and Trust company and served as president of this bank for many years before his death. One of Monroe's city schools bears his name.

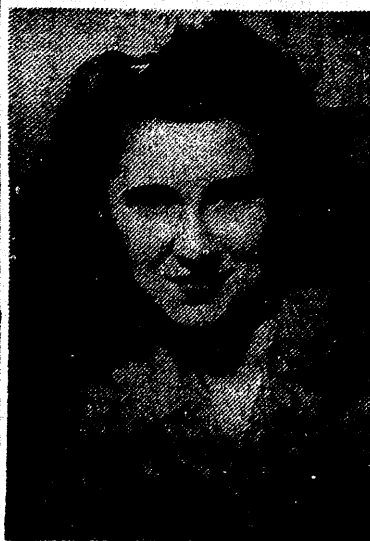

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Claud Youngblood, Mrs. Mona Batte, Mrs. Fullove, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Youngblood and James, Ashley and Margaret Youngblood of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Youngblood of Washington, Texas.

Women Voters Present Series Of Addresses

Local members of the League of Women Voters will inaugurate their "Choose Your Foreign Policy" program Monday afternoon when their first radio talk will be made.

lude to Postwar Planning," one of the tools with which league members in 155 communities throughout the country are armed as they start on a mid-summer campaign to recruit an army of at least three million fact-informed men and women.

Scoring our negative foreign policy during the last twenty years, the league points out that such "keep out of war" and "mind your own business" policies neither guaranteed our security nor promoted our national interests, the two principles upon which a positive foreign policy should be based.

"It is necessary to take stock of the position of the United States in a changed world," the broadcast states, "and to decide what we have to do to protect our vital interests. For instance our place in commercial aviation will have a bearing on our ability to defend ourselves; so will our rights to naval and air bases. We need access to raw materials and outlets for trade to assure our prosperity."

Four alternative methods are posed by the league by which the United States can try to secure its future: go all out for armaments in order to protect ourselves, unaided, in both oceans; join in a balance of power arrangement outside of an international organization; join with other nations in an international organization; use a combination of policies to control the military power—Russia, Great Britain and the United States, and of China whose power is potentially great; chances are slight that in the immediate future nations will disarm or transfer their sovereign rights to a super-government; other peoples must be satisfied; any plan must have the approval and support of the American people.

Plan Trip To Army Camps Carefully

Mothers, sisters, wives, and sweethearts of service men, be sure to plan your visit to an army camp as carefully as you would plan a trip to Europe. Don't suddenly pack your best clothes, buy a one way ticket because you hope to stay; and start out. To surprise the soldier who lives in a barracks with 50 or more other men, and whose training schedule does not include time for a surprise visit from you. . . . Well, here's what happens every day at some army post, as told by an army hostess.

You arrive at the army post glad to be there after sitting up all night on the bus or the train. You go directly to the service club and tell the hostess on duty that you wish to telephone to your soldier. She tries to contact him. "His company is out of the rifle range today," you are told. "They should be in by 5:30 this afternoon. Yes, we shall leave word for him to come to the service club as soon as he gets in."

You thank the hostess. Relieved to know for certain that your soldier has not been shipped out. You decide to spend the afternoon around the service club.

You go to the restroom to clean up a bit. There you meet another woman who arrived just before you. She, too, is waiting to see her soldier son. He knows that she is coming and made reservations at the guest house for her. That gives you an idea. You have heard about a guest house where soldier's friends stay. You go back to the hostess and tell her you would like to have a room in the guest house. She tells you it is full. There are only 28 rooms.

The friendly hostess understands what you are up against. "I'm sorry. Every room in the guest house is filled. We already have lots in some of the rooms. You or your soldier should make a reservation at least 10 days in advance. Yes, there is a slight possibility of a cancellation. Surely, I'll be glad to hold the room for you."

"What about a room in a nearby town?" you nervously ask. "The Travelers Aid of the USO has reported that there are no rooms available in the town eight miles away. Its population before the war was 150, now it is 2,000. The hostess explains that buses leave the post every few hours. She urges you to start room hunting right away. You hope desperately that there will be a cancellation at the guest house and spend the next few hours sitting around the service club, visiting with your new acquaintances and perhaps a few soldiers who are not on duty.

You go to the hostess again. You wonder if your soldier son has come in from the rifle range yet. She telephones. "His company is just coming in. He should be at the service club in a short while." He appears between 6:30 and 7 o'clock. He is tired and there is gunfire ringing in his ears, but he is glad to see you. Almost his first thought is about where you are going to spend the night. He has 11 o'clock bed check. He can't get a pass to go into town with you. The hostess informs you that there hasn't been a cancellation at the guest house. You think perhaps the chaplain can aid you. The chaplain is willing but there is really nothing he can do. About 10:30 you and your soldier son are standing on the corner. Along comes the bus and you hop in alone having made arrangements to meet him at the service club in the morning. Your soldier goes to his barracks. He can't sleep. He is wondering what has happened to you, and you—

Brakefields Observe Golden Anniversary

An event, claiming the affectionate interest of their many friends in this section of the state, was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brakefield of Pioneer, La. The celebration took place in the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. Howard Carroll, with their children, grandchildren and throngs of lifelong friends in attendance.

This home, thrown open to the guests, was in beautiful floral attire, harmonizing in every detail with the gold and white color scheme. Gold wedding bells tied with white satin ribbon hung in the arch of the door leading into the dining room, where the bridal theme was charmingly reflected. The table, overlaid with exquisite lace, had as its central decor a luscious four-tiered cake, encased in white with the years 1893-1943 in gold across the top and decorated with gold leaves. Handsome crystal candlesticks, supporting tall yellow tapers, were linked with white satin ribbons in small crystal receptacles at vantage points and filled with gold lanterns, white carnations and fern.

At one end was placed bride and bridegroom figurines under an arch of southern smilax and Madonna lilies. Mrs. Brakefield wore on this happy occasion a white marquisette model over gold slipper satin. She wore a corsage of sweetheart roses, a gift of Mr. P. N. Edwards and an old fashioned cameo brooch.

The gowns worn by the feminine members of the family and close friends, who assisted in receiving, were similar to that of the celebrant in that they were fashioned with sweetheart necklines and tight fitting hip length waists. Mrs. Carroll wore a distinctive model of white marquisette attractively trimmed with gold velvet bows and a corsage of scarlet Radiance roses. Mrs. Venters wore a frock of camellia pink mousseline.

Her corsage was a cluster of orchid carnations. Mrs. Kierbow wore a smart model of black net and a corsage of red carnations. Mrs. Christian wore a becoming frock of black net and lame. Her corsage was of pink Radiance roses. Assisting also were the wives of their sons, Lou and Benjie, who wore similar dresses of pink marquisette and organza with harmonizing corsages. Mrs. R. L. Rona, who presided over the guest book, wore a becoming model of aqua chiffon. Mrs. Jim Kennedy of Vicksburg, Mississippi, was attractively dressed in pink marquisette with harmonizing flowers tucked behind her pompadour.

A note of informality prevailed as guests were invited out of doors to the lawn where ice cream and individual cakes were served by a coterie of young ladies, attractively dressed in floor length models of organza with gold asters worn becomingly in their hair. Those who assisted in this capacity were Lucile Fernandez, Ila Skains, Billie Griggs, Lonnie D. McDaniels, Joyce Redding, Nadine Fair, Mildred Eubanks, Evelyn Tinsley, Virginia DeFreese and Floy Weems. Mr. and Mrs. Brakefield invited their family and close friends into the dining room at 5 o'clock to cut their cake. They were privileged to present the gold leaves to several members of their respective families and friends who attended their wedding. The napkins were inscribed with the names of the celebrants and the date of their wedding.

Beautiful gifts of china, linens, crystal and numerous other articles were showered upon the celebrants. Congratulatory messages and gorgeous gifts of flowers added much to the occasion, making it a day overflowing with pleasantries and cherished memories for this happy couple.

Rules For National Poetry Contest Given

Mrs. J. R. White, state chairman of the National Poetry association gives the following rules for the national poetry contest endorsed by national, patriotic and civic organizations, by educators and governors of 45 states. Poems to be eligible must reflect the patriotic and religious significance of Thanksgiving and the historical reasons why the flag should be displayed.

The national prizes are, first, a $25 war bond; second $15, third $10.00, and fourth $5 in war stamps. There will also be numerous state prizes. The National Thanksgiving association for the past 26 years has endeavored to promote:

A greater interest in and appreciation of the traditions and accomplishments of our country as reasons for gratitude.

In the giving of thanks to God for the blessings of our land, the display of the flag as evidence of our gratitude and appreciation.

The National Thanksgiving association urges the display of the flag on Thanksgiving day from all public and private buildings; the use of flags as part of table decorations, and the inclusion of flags in baskets sent to the needy.

The association is striving to call attention to the patriotic and religious significance of Thanksgiving day through the expression of gratitude to God for country and for the heritage not only from Pilgrim ancestors but from pioneers in all periods of American history in every field of endeavor whose courage, perseverance and self-denial have made possible the opportunities we now enjoy.

The contest closes October 15, 1943. Poems limited to 20 lines. Duplicates should be kept as no poem can be returned. Poems should be unsigned. Name, address of poet and title of poem in sealed envelope with title written on outside must accompany poem.

Each poet may enter three poems. Any poetic form may be used, including free verse. All entries must be sent to the state chairman. Any poem placing for award or honorable mention will become the property of the National Thanksgiving association.

Mrs. Bernard Druck, St. Paul, Minn., is the founder and president. Miss Frances Bayley, 2701 Aldrich avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., is the National Poetry contest chairman. Mrs. Margarette Ball Dickson, staples, Minn., is the National Poetry contest publicity chairman.

Mrs. White announces that 78 poems were entered in the contest from Louisiana last year. As a result one contestant was awarded a national prize and another was given honorable mention. Mrs. White is anticipating a larger number of contestants from Louisiana than ever before to enter this year's contest.

Letter To Governor Discusses Shortage

Mrs. Roger F. Sharp, president of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association recently wrote to Governor Sam Jones in regard to the serious shortage of teachers in this state. The letter, following, will be read with interest by the public generally:

"The Public Schools of Louisiana, particularly in the rural areas, are facing a very serious shortage in teachers. In times like these those of us who bear the home responsibilities are more than ever before acutely aware of the values we must defend. The educational ideal, so typically American, must indeed be protected. Schools, unable to pay salaries to teachers at all comparable to the cost of living, are forced to lower standards dangerously, and the sufferers are the children."

"At a time when juvenile delinquency is ever more serious, at a time when children are especially in need of wise supervision, at a time when we must turn to schools as community centers, and ask them to assume additional responsibilities, we must, it seems to me, make it possible for our schools to meet these responsibilities."

"It is my understanding that the general fund in our state has been increased by an amount of between three and five million dollars by the return of unexpended appropriations from various departments and state agencies,—and that there is also a probability that this amount will be further increased by the end of the fiscal year."

"The goal of $20 per educable

Wedding Solemnized At Presbyterian Church With Rev. Holloway Officiating

A wartime wedding, characterized by simplicity yet not lacking in beauty of detail and dignity of ceremony took place at the First Presbyterian church, Wednesday morning, July 28, at 11 o'clock, when Miss Carrie Jo Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Hill of Riverton, La., became the bride of Lieutenant Uriah Millsaps Youngblood, son of Mr. Claud Youngblood and the late Mrs. Ruth Millsaps Youngblood of Shreveport.

Reverend Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

Pale pink gladioli were arranged with considerable artistry against a background of palms and tapers flaming high in wrought iron candelabra. Pedestal baskets overflowing with pink gladioli formed a semi-circle for the wedding party.

While the guests were being seated the organist, Leon Hammond, rendered a brilliant pre-nuptial concert. The bride's attendant, her sister, Mrs. Richard Kellogg, wore an advanced fall Arthur Weiss model of tobacco brown with off-the-face, feather trimmed, brown hat. All accessories were of brown with a corsage of orchids adding a distinctive note.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Herbert Youngblood. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a distinctive advanced fall Eisenberg model of dark brown crepe with blouse of turquoise blue. All accessories were of brown including a flattering hat with short veil. Her corsage was of orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left via the motor route for Dallas, Texas, where they will spend a short honeymoon before leaving for Pampa, Texas, where Lieutenant Youngblood will be stationed.

The bride is one of the most popular members of Monroe's younger set. She is a graduate of Northeast Junior college where she was a member of the Purple Jackets. She is also a member of the Junior Charity League and the Spinster club.

Lieutenant Youngblood attended George Washington university in Washington, D. C., and the Louisiana State university in Baton Rouge. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Millsaps, pioneer citizens of this city where they were prominently identified with the civic and cultural life of this parish. Mr. Millsaps established the Central Savings Bank and Trust company and served as president of this bank for many years before his death. One of Monroe's city schools bears his name.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Claud Youngblood, Mrs. Mona Batts, Mrs. Fulfillove, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Youngblood and James, Ashley and Margaret Youngblood of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Youngblood of Wacom, Texas.

Women Voters Present Series Of Addresses

Local members of the League of Women Voters will inaugurate their "Choose Your Foreign Policy" program Monday afternoon when their first radio talk will be made.

How the United States can get a foreign policy that will insure us against attack and promote our national well-being is the issue presented by the National League of Women Voters in its latest broadside. "Pre-

BETROTHED

Miss Miriam Gay Guley of Farmerville, La., whose engagement to Harold S. Hall, cadet, United States Army Air force, is announced today by her mother, Mrs. Ralph A. Guley. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hall of Newton, Kansas. He is stationed in the School of Meteorology, Grand Rapids, Mich.

lude to Postwar Planning," one of the tools with which league members in 135 communities throughout the country are armed as they start on a mid-summer campaign to recruit an army of at least three million fact-informed men and women.

Scoring our negative foreign policy during the last twenty years, the league points out that such "keep out of war" and "mind your own business" policies neither guaranteed our security nor promoted our national interests, the two principles upon which a positive foreign policy should be based.

"It is necessary to take stock of the position of the United States in a changed world," the broadside states, "and to decide what we have to do to protect our vital interests. For instance our place in commercial aviation will have a bearing on our ability to defend ourselves; so will our rights to naval and air bases. We need access to raw materials and outlets for trade to assure our prosperity."

Four alternative methods are posed by the league by which the United States can try to secure its future: go all out for armaments in order to protect ourselves; unaided, in both oceans; join in a balance of power arrangement outside of an international organization; join with other nations in an international organization; use a combination of policies.

If the American people choose this time to join an association of nations, the League of Women Voters offers four facts that will influence the form of such an association: No organization can succeed without the cooperation of the three nations who control the military power—Russia, Great Britain and the United States, and of China whose power is potentially great; chances are slight that in the immediate future nations will disarm or transfer their sovereign rights to a super-government; other peoples must be satisfied; any plan must have the approval and support of the American people.

Rules For National Poetry Contest Given

Mrs. J. R. White, state chairman of the National Poetry association gives the following rules for the national poetry contest endorsed by national, patriotic and civic organizations, by educators and governors of 45 states.

Poems to be eligible must reflect the patriotic and religious significance of Thanksgiving and the historical reasons why the flag should be displayed.

The national prizes are, first, a $25 war bond; second $15; third $10.00; and fourth $5 in war stamps. There will also be numerous state prizes. The National Thanksgiving association for the past 26 years has endeavored to promote.

A greater interest in and appreciation of the traditions and accomplishments of our country as reasons for gratitude.

In the giving of thanks to God for the blessings of our land, the display of the flag as evidence of our remembrance and appreciation.

The National Thanksgiving association urges the display of the flag on Thanksgiving day from all public and private buildings; the use of flags as part of table decorations, and the inclusion of flags in baskets sent to the needy.

The association is striving to call attention to the patriotic and religious significance of Thanksgiving day through the expression of gratitude to God for country and for the heritage not only from Pilgrim ancestors but from pioneers in all periods of American history in every field of endeavor whose courage, perseverance and self-denial have made possible the opportunities we now enjoy.

Miss Zeola DeRossett Weds Lieut. Phillips

Ceremony Beautifully Solemnized At Protestant Chapel At Selman Field

Of affectionate interest to friends in this city and other sections of the state is the wedding of Zeola Elizabeth DeRossett, daughter of Mrs. O. D. DeRossett and Lieutenant Richard H. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Phillips of Brighton, Tenn., which was beautifully solemnized at 5:30 in the afternoon July 11 at the Selman field Protestant chapel. Chaplain Forrest Hubbel performed the impressive double wedding ceremony in the presence of the two families and intimate friends.

Two altar urns of beautiful scarlet were placed against tiers of red drapery. Floor baskets of white gladioli entwined with smilax and English ivy were grouped against background of palms.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Marie Gremillion rendered two vocal solos, "I Love You Truly" and "Because," accompanied by the organist, Corporal George Brown. The traditional wedding march for Lohengrin announced the entrance of the bride party.

The bride was given in marriage by Major D. H. Clark. Her period gown of satin was dramatized by an inset yoke of lace, which outlined the deep V neckline of fitted bodice. The full skirt, which was gathered in graceful folds to the basque extended into a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught with a coronet of gladioli. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and white carnations. For something old and borrowed she wore a long lead necklace added with diamonds. Miss Novae, who served as maid of honor, was a lovely model of peach marette inserted with lace panels and a da bouquet of peach gladioli matching flowers in her hair. Katherine Sanders, who served as bridesmaid, wore a becoming model of white chateau marquisette with panels and also carried a bouquet of white gladioli with matching flowers in her hair.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. G. C. Phillips.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. The lace draped table was centered with a crystal bowl of pink roses. The three-tiered wedding cake surmounted with a bride and groom and beautifully embossed in green and white, was placed at one end and a crystal punch bowl at the other end was presided over by Mrs. Frede Mickel and Mrs. Hazel Large. Following the reception the bride changed to a navy blue sheer dress with pink accessories and an orchid corsage. They left immediately on a wedding trip to New Orleans and Memphis, Tenn. After returning from their honeymoon, they will be located on 1009 N. 3rd.

Out of town guests were the bridegroom's father, Mr. G. C. Phillips and sisters, Misses Doris and Nell Phillips, and brother, Robert Phillips, all of Memphis, Tenn.

Miss Muriel Crowley Marries Lieut. Carey

Announcement has been made by Mrs. David H. Crowley of Boston, Mass., of the marriage of her daughter, Muriel, to Lieutenant George F. Carey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Carey of Boston, Mass., Friday afternoon, July 30, at the Catholic church, Selman Field. The ceremony was performed by Father Finke at five o'clock in the afternoon in the presence of a few intimate friends and fellow officers.

Cathedral tapers burned on the altar in the midst of white gladioli and in the background where baskets of white gladioli formed an enclosure for the wedding party.

The bride, given in marriage by Lieutenant William Buckley, wore a lovely powder blue model with becoming blue hat and all accessories of blue and a corsage of bride's roses.

The bride was attended by her mother who wore a gray crepe model with accessories of gray and a corsage of butterfly roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Lieutenant William Mansfield.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of Lieutenant and Mrs. William Mansfield on Grammont street.

The beautifully embossed wedding cake, centering the lace covered bride's table in the dining room, was cut by the bride and bridegroom before leaving on their honeymoon in New Orleans. Frosted drinks and a variety of confections were served to the guests.

When Lieutenant and Mrs. Carey return from their honeymoon they will take up residence in this city. Lieutenant Carey is stationed at Selman Field.

Double Ring Ceremony Is Solemnized At Catholic Chapel At Geiger Field

Of wide interest is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Porter Bryant Dugal, of Swartz, Louisiana, of the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Louise, to Lieutenant Henry Charles Schaller, United States Air corps.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized at 9 a.m. July 23, at a nuptial mass in the beautiful Catholic chapel, Geiger field, Spokane, Washington. Father G. M. Hickey, post chaplain, officiated in the presence of a few intimate friends, while soft organ music was played.

The bride wore a lovely navy sheer with small white hat and matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias encircled by tube roses. Miss Florence Dapper, of Spokane, was the bride's maid of honor. Her costume was a dusty rose sheer with which she wore blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias surrounded by pink rose buds.

Lieutenant Jack F. Smith, of Watertown, S. D., served the groom as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal party, Father Hickey and a few close friends were entertained at a breakfast party at the Geiger field officers' club.

The bride graduated from St. Matthews Parochial School before she entered the Northeast Junior college from which she received her diploma in 1942. She was a popular student and a leader in various student organizations. She was a member of the Speech club, president of the Newman club, president of the Inter-Religious council and editor of the Pow Wow, newspaper. By popular vote of the student body she was chosen one of the ten most outstanding students during her sophomore year. She was included in the yearbook section devoted to the most outstanding students. She was employed at Selman field just prior to her marriage.

Lieutenant Schaller, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Schaller of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, attended the public schools of Lancaster. He was employed by the Hamilton Watch company at the time he entered military service. He was commissioned a navigator-bombardier before being transferred from Selman field, Monroe, to Geiger field.

Miss Margaret Dugal Weds Lieut. Schaller

Double Ring Ceremony Is Solemnized At Catholic Chapel At Geiger Field

Of wide interest is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Porter Bryant Dugal, of Swartz, Louisiana, of the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Louise, to Lieutenant Henry Charles Schaller, United States Air corps.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized at 9 a.m. July 23, at a nuptial mass in the beautiful Catholic chapel, Geiger field, Spokane, Washington. Father G. M. Hickey, post chaplain, officiated in the presence of a few intimate friends, while soft organ music was played.

The bride wore a lovely navy sheer with small white hat and matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias encircled by tube roses. Miss Florence Dapper, of Spokane, was the bride's maid of honor. Her costume was a dusty rose sheer with which she wore blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias surrounded by pink rose buds.

Lieutenant Jack F. Smith, of Watertown, S. D., served the groom as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Bryant Dugal, were entertained at a breakfast party at the Geiger field Officers' club.

The bride graduated from St. Matthews Parochial school before she entered the Northeast Junior college from which she received her diploma in 1942. She was a popular student and a leader in various student organizations. She was a member of the Speech club, president of the Newman club, president of the Inter-Religious council and editor of the Pow Wow, newspaper. By popular vote of the student body she was chosen one of the ten most outstanding students during her sophomore year. She was included in the yearbook section devoted to the most outstanding students. She was employed at Selman field just prior to her marriage.

Lieutenant Schaller, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Schaller of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, attended the public schools of Lancaster. He was employed by the Hamilton, Watch company at the time he entered military service. He was commissioned a navigator-bombardier before he was transferred from Selman field, Monroe, to Geiger field.

CHAPTER XVII

"I won't let you do it," Lincoln's voice had an edge to it. Again the other laughed. "Listen!" he announced. "I am a man of seventy times seventy years of shrewdness and inquiry. I am your friend. And so," he said, "why not tell me the whole truth?" "The whole . . . ?" "That you fear this girl—oh, yes—being a spy. But, also, that—ah—on spies, women spies have soft, soft and white, generous arms." "I swear to you . . . ?" "Why persecute yourself? I, too, have been in love!" he sighed—"more often than there are hairs in my head. Very well, I shall not harm her." "What about other men harming her?" the American asked quickly. "War, trouble, may be coming this way. And the girl—a Christian, alone, defenseless. . . ."

She did not speak; only looked at him. And he wondered why she was looking at him so queerly, so searchingly; and then, on the spur of the moment, perhaps for the first time since he had reached manhood, he was guilty of sentimental words. For in a low voice he added: "Please wish me luck." "Luck?" she echoed. "Yes, I need it." "Something—something serious in the wind?" "Very serious." She held out her hand. He took it. "Of course I wish you luck," she said soberly, sincerely. "All the luck in the world." He was going to say more; not about his mission. Of course not. But how he felt about her. But he did not speak; could not. He loathed what he called fumbling—fumbling mentally, spiritually. It was his New England inheritance. So he bowed, left—and, as the door closed on him, it occurred to him that, doubtless for the last time in his life, he had spoken with a fellow-American. With calm efficiency he set about his final preparations. He visited the bazaar where he bought matches, tobacco, a bag of provisions, an extra box of revolver ammunition and a cheap silver watch. Then he went to the negro quarter, on the outskirts of town, in search of a guide. From open-air kitchens the sound of frying escaped and the reek of sizzling palm-oil. The men were squatting on their haunches, smoking and spitting and hickering and laughing. The women were at their cooking, finding time the while to upbraid their husbands and their offspring in high, shrill voices. Children of all ages and all degrees of nudity were shouting and playing in the filthy gutters. Poverty was everywhere, disease. But they were happy, friendly folk. Friendly, too, at least at first, to Lincoln. They saw in him the Arab, the man of superior lineage. Once upon a time, within living memory, the Arabs had invaded their peaceful villages with fire and sword, had chained and yoked and driven and sold them as if they were cattle. Still—and the American thought of a parallel, psychological reaction in his own country, south of the Mason-Dixon line—they preferred, to this day, their former masters to the others, the Europeans, who had brought them freedom. Their greetings were effusive: "The salute, O Sheikh!" "Welcome—and the peace!" "Your blessings on us—and the Lord's choicest blessings on you!" He gave greetings in return as he wandered about, looking for a guide. To Be Continued.

"War, trouble, may be coming this way. And the girl—a Christian, alone, defenseless..." "Say no more, she'll stay in my hands for a while. After all," he smiled, "the women here are pretty and the wiles excellent." He paused, then spoke very gravely: "In case of trouble, I shall take her into my own house and, later on, smuggle her out of the country to safety. She shall be to me as my own flesh and blood—my mother, my sister—may I eat dirt if I lie!" They shook hands, and Zaman Khan held back. "When are you leaving?" "Within the hour. As soon as I've found a guide." "You'll find one over there," pointed west, "in the huts of the negroes. You will need money for the money—and a better weapon than Bedawin rifle." He reached into his broad waistband and produced a well-filled purse and a heavy army revolver. Lincoln took both. "Thank you," he said simply. "There was a silence. Then the man saluted formally. "Some day, sahib," he said, "we shall meet again—and, perhaps, fight side by side." "God grant it, friend!" Zaman Khan walked away, with a heavy swagger, and the American, without asking himself why he did it, returned to the inn and entered the room where Nancy Brown sat, busily scribbling in a small notebook. She looked up. "Writing down my impressions," she told him. "Going to make a book of it. All about Africa—and the sort of people one meets there—and how a nice man warned me." She lit a cigarette. "I suppose you've come to repeat your warning?" "No," was his curt reply. "Well—don't be so sulky!" "I," he announced, "have come to my goodbye." "Oh—really?" "Oh—really!" "I'm leaving tonight."

WAVES Learn As They Earn

"Women warriors" are filling mighty big "victory shoes" these days, and a glance behind the scenes at a WAVES training station explains the reason why.

Practice, study and more practice is the secret of success which is causing Naval officers to double their demands for the "ladies in blue" who in many cases are filling shore jobs more efficiently than did their masculine predecessors.

Many opportunities await women of America between 20 and 36 in the thrilling service of their Navy. The pay is the same as that received by a Navy man of equal rate, and the chances for advancement are excellent in this rapidly expanding branch of the armed services.

Women with training in civilian life are able to put it to good use almost from the start, and those who have had no previous training find a golden opportunity to learn while they earn as Bluejacket recruits of Uncle Sam.

Basic training completed, the WAVE, smartly uniformed, thoroughly schooled, is ready to take a man's place and do a man-size job.

Perhaps she takes over a Yeoman's duties as secretary to a Naval officer and releases a man to serve on one of the nation's great battleships; perhaps she gets a radio position at one of the navy's air bases, and an Aviation Radioman becomes free to fly—and fight—with the naval air forces.

Whatever the work, the WAVE carries the same responsibilities, exchanges salutes and commands the same respect as any other member of the uniformed forces. She's doing a job—not as a man or as a woman—but as an American.

A man-sized job is this young lady's. Now at a naval air base, she has qualified for parachute repair work.

Here's a happy group of WAVES taking time out at training school for luncheon.

Applications for enlistment or for information may be made at the United States Navy Recruiting Substation, Monroe. Women are invited to ask all the questions they like without in any way obligating themselves to enlist.

A former amateur radio operator, this young lady joined the WAVES and is now a naval radio operator.

This young lady is now a yeoman in the WAVES. Her work releases a man for active duty.

Control tower operators who will be assigned to work at one of the navy's flying fields.

'The Constant Nymph' Opens At Paramount On Tuesday

Warner Baxter and Margaret Lindsay, shown above, are the stars of radio's top crime thriller now brought to the screen in "Crime Doctor." This thrill-cramped hit comes to the Paramount theater Friday and Saturday.

Going my way? Arthur Lake, better known by his screen name of Dagwood Bumstead, gets taken for a ride by Reggie, the Wonder Horse, in the newest Blondie comedy, "It's a Great Life," which comes to the Capitol Tuesday and Wednesday.

On the receiving end of Brian Donlevy's love-making technique in "Hangmen Also Die" is lovely Anna Lee. Their romantic goings-on provide a unique experience, even to the expert anatomy sub-brainers. Plays Thursday only at the Capitol.

Boyer And Fontaine In Love Story New Aerial Film Opens At Capitol

Alexis Smith, Brenda Marshall, Charles Coburn Also In Cast Chester Morris And Richard Arlen Star In 'Aerial Gunner'

WHEN the elements of writing, production, direction and acting are as judiciously mixed as they have been in the new Warner Bros. film, "The Constant Nymph," the results should be something special in the way of screen entertainment.

The picture, which has its premiere at the Paramount theater Tuesday, boasts an impressive array of stars and featured players. The cast leads off brilliantly with Charles Boyer and Joan Fontaine in the starring roles, names that spell romantic magic.

Mr. Boyer's outstanding performance in such pictures as "Algiers," "Maytime" and "Hold Back the Dawn" are classic examples. As for Miss Fontaine, one need only mention "Rebecca" and "Suspicion," for which she won the academy award, to evoke performances of unsurpassed dramatic strength.

This intensely dramatic film offers her an opportunity to play the part of a shy, frightened young woman, the kind she has done so well in the aforementioned pictures. This time her problem is centered about the unrequited love for Charles Boyer, a composer who falls in love with and marries Alexis Smith. Joan's portrayal of Tessa Sanger should bring her new plaudits.

"The Constant Nymph" should give Charles Boyer's talent as a romantic actor full play. He plays the part of Lewis Dodd, a composer, a man of great complexity, appearing as two different men to the women who love him.

Joan Fontaine is one of a musician's truly family, raised in a remote Alpine chalet. In her eyes Lewis is a person innocently free of the restrictions of convention as she is almost a part of herself—essential to her life. But another woman intervenes. To Florence (Alexis Smith), a glamorous figure in London society, this man is a new emotional experience, dangerous, unpredictable. She marries him, attempts to make his genius an ornament for her drawing room, and admits defeat when it is too late.

"The Constant Nymph," based upon the popular novel by Margaret Kennedy, was directed by Edmund Goulding from the screen play by Kathryn Scola with a special musical score composed by Erich Wolfgang Korngold who also did the score for "Kings Row."

A prominent supporting cast is headed by Alexis Smith, Brenda Marshall, Charles Coburn, Dame May Whitty, Peter Lorre and Jean Muir, who returns to the screen to play her first role in six years.

New Aerial Film Opens At Capitol

Alexis Smith, Brenda Marshall, Charles Coburn Also In Cast Chester Morris And Richard Arlen Star In 'Aerial Gunner'

THE dramatic and spectacular story of the aerial gunner's role in the war now is portrayed on the screen at long last in Paramount's thrilling motion picture, "Aerial Gunner," coming to the Capitol theater today.

The aerial gunner of the army air corps is the hero of this picture. Richard Arlen and Chester Morris head a stellar cast in this action drama of the bomber's trigger fighters. The gunner is followed by swastika and Zeros that harass bombers. His part in aerial combat is to protect the plane's fore and aft, and blast attacking planes away from the tail, a very popular target of the enemy's. In short his is no small task.

In "Aerial Gunner," Arlen and Morris are gunners with chips on their shoulders. To complicate matters they're also pitted against each other in a contest for beautiful newcomer Lita Ward. Much of the action in the picture takes place in gunnery school where Morris as Arlen's instructor makes things hot for him. Considerable adding to the picture's suspense, a thrilling film entertainment in the air battle with five attacking Zeros, with Arlen at the bomber's controls, and Morris handling the rear guns.

The gunnery roles are peculiarly suited to the talents of Arlen and Morris, both of whom have proven themselves to be men of action, in private life, and also with a past record of screen hits calling for hard-hitting characterizations.

In a scene that will long be remembered by those who see "Aerial Gunner" for its sheer dramatic thrill, the bomber flown by Richard Arlen, wounded in an air combat with Zeros, makes a forced landing near a myriad of a tiny gun boat off the coast of South Pacific islands. Most of the bomber's crew were killed in the aerial combat, leaving Arlen, Chester Morris and Dick Purcell to repair the stricken ship. Morris with the aid of a Tommy gun boots off a band of Japs and permits his stricken bomber to make its getaway.

William Pine and William Thomas, producers of "Aerial Gunner" believe that authenticity adds to the film's thrills. One reason for the realistic scope of the film is that a great portion of the picture was shot on location at the Harlingen Aerial Gunnery school, in Texas.

Maxwell Shane authored the script which dramatizes the fighting war story of the men who protect our air force bombers.

Cream And Black Fiber Board Car Plates For 1944

BATON ROUGE, La., July 31.—(AP)—Before leaving for army duty Saturday the state collector of revenue, Rufus W. Fontenot, announced he has completed arrangements for everybody to have new cream and black automobile licenses in 1944.

Fontenot said orders had been placed for license plates made of fiber board, pressed from pulpwood, and that tests indicated they were as durable and more economical than the pre-war metal plates. The new plates are to go on sale December 1.

The new type plate has been tested for durability by the highway engineering department and found to be quite suitable, Fontenot said, leaving his state position Saturday to report for army duty as a major at Camp Custer, Mich., next week.

The color scheme for '44 will be cream and black for automobile plates—cream background with black numerals. The licenses will bear the state's emblem, the pelican, with opened book. Some people think he's laughing and or happy. Others say he's just hungry. Anyhow we'll have the pelican again.

Fontenot said several states have used the fiber plates with success and that other states, besides Louisiana, are planning to use the plates in 1944. "We received word from the government releasing steel for use in making 1944 plates," he said. "But we felt that it was our patriotic duty to avoid using steel if at all possible. The fiber plates will be just as good."

While the fiber license plates will cost us slightly more than metal plates, they will be lighter than the metal plates and therefore cost less to mail, Fontenot stated. "As a result we will realize some slight saving."

Fontenot's army orders call for his training for five weeks at the army provost-marshal general's school at Camp Custer. From there he is to go to Charlottesville, Va.

BOLD ROBBERS HOLD BANK HEAD CAPTIVE, FLEE WITH $12,000

BROKEN ARROW, Okla., July 31.—(AP)—Two bandits who held a bank president and his wife prisoners throughout the night and calmly admitted the robbery to make a delivery while waiting on a time lock, robbed the Arkansas Valley State bank of $12,000 Saturday and locked six men in the vault.

Six hours later a pair of suspects were arrested near Ponca City, Okla., after one of the most extensive Oklahoma manhunts since frontier days. Bank robbery charges were filed against the men by United States District Attorney Whit Maury at Tulsa.

Highway patrolmen who arrested the men said they recovered nearly $10,000 and took two girls from the prisoners, identified in the warrants as Paul Bice, 31, and Chester Don Peeler, 32. Officers said both were ex-convicts.

The bandits appeared at the home of K. M. Rowe, bank president, Friday night and forced their way in at gunpoint. Rowe scolded with them and was struck in the head with a gun. They tied Mrs. Rowe to her bed and taped her mouth with adhesive. During the wait they calmly ransacked the safe and took $12,000.

Two hours before the bank was due to open, they took Rowe there to be ready when the time lock released. Three other bank officials, A. M. Laws, vice-president; W. E. Laws, cashier; and Roy C. Smith, assistant cashier, arrived for work and were herded to their desks under guard.

The robbers permitted the ice man to enter the building, make his delivery and go on his way unmolested. When the time lock opened about 8:30 a. m., the pair took all of the currency and locked the bankers and two customers, Dr. W. D. Owney, and J. O. Pike, in the vault. They were released a few minutes later by a clerk.

The state highway patrol sent 25 crews into the northern Oklahoma area for the ensuing manhunt.

TWO WOMEN INJURED IN TRAFFIC MISHAPS HERE

Two women suffered injuries in two separate traffic mishaps here early yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Wilma Jordan of Dodge suffered cuts and bruises when an automobile in which she was riding collided with another machine in the 700 block of South Second street and Mrs. Rex Hymer, South Third and Layton, receiving a minor head injury when an automobile in which she was riding collided with a bus at the intersection of Hall and Grammont streets.

Mrs. Jordan was taken in a Peters ambulance to Conaway Memorial hospital where she was treated. Mrs. Hymer was treated in a local physician's office and allowed to go to her home.

Police Sergeant J. M. Busby and Officer M. L. Peters, who investigated the accident on South Second, reported Mrs. Jordan was riding with her husband, Clayton Jordan, 30, when their car collided with a machine operated by T. O. Wooley, 53, 801 Alabama street. Wooley was traveling north of South Second and

Hamburg 'Ceases To Exist' After Week Of Shattering Aerial Raids

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 31.—(AP)—Germany's second city and main port of Hamburg has "ceased to exist" after a week of shattering Allied air raids which leveled entire blocks and killed perhaps 10,000 persons, eyewitnesses reported Saturday night.

Swedish eyewitnesses of the Hitler, which was hit while in Hamburg harbor, were quoted by the newspaper Aftonbladet as saying the city was "an inferno" where perhaps only 50 houses remained undamaged. Thousands of its dazed citizenry were streaming out of its ruins to eastern Germany, they said.

Other eyewitness reports received here told this story: The Hamburg harbor area was flattened and in the harbor itself there was such disorder that no control of any kind existed.

Jordan was traveling south behind a city bus, it was stated. Jordan said the bus stopped suddenly and he was forced to cut across the street to keep from hitting the bus, but collided with the Woolley car instead.

Police Officer J. B. Whitfield, who investigated the accident at Hall and Grammont, reported Mrs. Hymer was a passenger in a car operated by H. B. Zeagler, route 2, Monroe, who was traveling south on Hall when his automobile collided with the bus operated by William N. Parker, 25, of 504 N. street, West Monroe. The bus, reported owned by Jack Russell of West Monroe, was going east on Grammont.

SAYS ONLY CONTRACT CAN END COAL MINE DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—The United Mine Workers Journal predicted editorially Saturday that there will be "no peace in the coal industry, no compromise or truce, no guarantee of an adequate coal supply until a collective bargaining wage agreement is signed" covering the nation's coal production.

Such an agreement has been reached by the U. M. W. and the Illinois coal operators, and the terms of the pact will be considered at a hearing before the War Labor Board here next Tuesday. The agreement must be approved by the W. L. B. and U. M. W. Chief John L. Lewis, who previously ignored the board, now has joined with the Illinois board in seeking the board's O. K.

Lewis has fixed October 31 as the deadline for the latest "truce" in the general coal dispute.

Boyer And Fontaine In Love Story

Alexis Smith, Brenda Marshall, Charles Coburn Also In Cast

WHEN the elements of writing, production, direction and acting are as judiciously mixed as they have been in the new Warner Bros. film, "The Constant Nymph," the results should be something special in the way of screen entertainment.

The picture, which has its premiere at the Paramount theater Tuesday, boasts an impressive array of stars and featured players. The cast leads off brilliantly with Charles Boyer and Joan Fontaine in the starring roles, names that spell romantic magic.

Mr. Boyer's outstanding performance in such pictures as "Algiers," "Mayerling" and "Hold Back the Dawn" are classic examples. As for Miss Fontaine, one need only mention "Rebecca" and "Suspicion," for which she won the academy award, to evoke performances of unsurpassed dramatic strength.

This intensely dramatic film offers her an opportunity to play the part of a shy, frightened young woman, the kind she has done so well in the aforementioned pictures. This time her problem is centered about her unrequited love for Charles Boyer, a composer who falls in love with and marries Alexis Smith. Joan's portrayal of Tessa Sanger should bring her new plaudits.

"The Constant Nymph" should give Charles Boyer's talent as a romantic actor full play. He plays the part of Lewis Dodd, a composer, a man of great complexity, appearing as two different men to the women who love him.

Joan Fontaine is one of a musician's unruly family, raised in a remote Alpine chalet. In her eyes Lewis is a person innocently free of the restrictions of conventions as she is—almost a part of herself—essential to her life. But another woman intervenes. To Florence (Alexis Smith), a glamorous figure in London society, this man is a new emotional experience, dangerously unpredictable. She marries him, attempts to make his genius an ornament for her drawing room, and admits defeat when it is too late.

"The Constant Nymph," based upon the popular novel by Margaret Kennedy, was directed by Edmund Goulding from the screen play by Kathryn Scola with a special musical score composed by Erich Wolfgang Korngold who also did the score for "Kings Row."

A prominent supporting cast is headed by Alexis Smith, Brenda Marshall, Charles Coburn, Dame May Whitty, Peter Lorre and Jean Muir, who returns to the screen to play her first role in six years.

How It Looks In Washington

(By the Washington Staff of the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Watch for a mighty contest over the job of running the demobilization program, finding jobs or providing job training and education for returning war veterans.

The power and vote-getting potentialities of the post will be enormous. Even before President Roosevelt discussed the program in his radio speech this week, Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt came out with a statement of policy on re-employment of veterans.

Selective service, which got the re-employment assignment by law, was absorbed into McNutt's war manpower commission by presidential order some time ago.

WMC also includes the U. S. employment service and several job-training programs, already set up for such a task.

The army, navy, veterans administration and, of course, congress are still to be heard from.

Economy warfare: The Byrd congressional committee for reduction of non-essential federal expenditures is going right ahead with its investigation of foreign contracts signed by the board of economic warfare, despite President Roosevelt's abolition of that agency and transfer of its functions to the new office of economic warfare.

The committee already has called for sample contracts, is poking an investigator's finger into them to learn whether there are any labor rights leaves; Sidney Talle, Gillispie, Shreveport; Willie Elmer McGough, Fairbanks; Karl Christian Paul Muller, Amite, and George Truman Tucker, Farmerville.

Bachelor of science in home economics—Mary Elizabeth Alexander, Dubach; Annie Mae Auger, Truxton; Lynn Ella Bell, West Monroe; Dorothy Lovenda Burch, Oak Grove; Eulalia Belle Gross, Baton Rouge; Myrtis Davis, Haws, Ruston; Margie Thetis Johnson, Chatham; Mary Allice O'Neal, Delc; Honor Calotte Risner, Ruston; Edna Marie Shadden, Cotton Valley, and Zelia B. Clinton Stephenson, Extension.

Bachelor of science in physical education—Joy Annette Davis, Monroe; Mary Lee George, West Monroe; Carolyn Jane Mall, Ruston, and Frenchie Alma Roan, Ruston.

clauses which would indicate an effort to raise foreign living standards to those of the United States through use of American dollars.

The terms under which American-constructed plants and facilities will be turned over to other countries after the war also will come under committee scrutiny.

Reshuffling the reshuffle: Some officials are urging the president to go further than his recent merger of the BEW and the foreign purchase subsidiaries of the reconstruction finance corporation.

They want the consolidation to include the lend-lease administration, the foreign relief administration and other agencies operating in the foreign economic field.

Mobilization Director Byrnes already is trying to coordinate the unmerged agencies.

Optimists and pessimists: President Roosevelt confesses himself "sometimes bewildered by conflicting statements that I see in the press" first that the war will end in 1943, then that the navy was preparing to fight until 1949. He didn't mention two high sources for these predictions: Admiral William F. Halsey, the optimistic one; Vice Admiral Frederick J. Horne, on the pessimistic side.

The American language: The president dipped freely into American slang and idiom in his address to the nation.

After saying Mussolini realized "the jig was up," he said he would "have no truck with fascism." He warned against anyone who says the war is "in the bag" or that "it's all over but the shouting."

He reported that "We are pushing the Japs around," but that American soldiers can't "lay off" for an instant at the front.

Proving an old capital legend: When the new Associated Press capitol reporter for New York state introduced himself to Representative Hamilton Fish, the congressman replied:

"How do you do. I want to make a statement."

The Washington story: A certain individual bombarded the anti-inflation officials for weeks to put price ceilings on a minor agricultural product on the grounds that manufacturers using the product couldn't afford to pay current prices and still sell the finished article at its ceiling price.

Finally the officials did as he requested. The individual immediately telephoned long distance to complain that the price was too low, that manufacturers could afford to pay much more.

Blindly he explained that he had two jobs, representing both the growers and the manufacturers, and had been hoping the government would pick a price satisfactory to both.

Government deferments: A forthcoming report from selective service to congress may jolt some of the government employees now holding draft deferments. Selective service is reported to have found that many deferments were granted by local boards, without any department request, merely because the man involved was working for the government.

Voice for small nations: Representatives of smaller nations, pleased with the substantial part given them in control of the interim commission on international post-war food problems, have expressed hope that the big four (U. S., Britain, Russia, China), will organize the projected post-war relief organization along similar lines.

Chairman of the food commission is a Canadian; chairmanships of three sub-committees are held by Brazil, India and the Netherlands. The big four aren't even represented on two of these, although all have members on the executive committee.

The draft for the delayed relief conference which was sent around to invited governments, however, provided for a powerful executive committee representing the big four exclusively.

Highlights of the week: Mussolini's fall raises optimism here. . . President process program to care for returning war veterans. . . Coffee rationing lifted. . . Eight Americans serving Axis propaganda agencies indicted here on charges of treason.

Making it official: Washingtonians long have suspected it, but now come official confirmation from Britain that Washington is considered in the tropics.

Regulation gush here for British soldiers, air men and service women, who never wear summer uniforms in Eng-

WAR PRISONERS NOT SOLUTION

Army Of 100,000 Workers Is Needed For State Crops, Sanders Says

UNIVERSITY STATION, BATON ROUGE, July 31.—(Special)—War prisoners are not the solution of Louisiana's great harvesting problem, and if the bumper crops of cotton, sugar cane and rice are to be saved an army of 100,000 workers must be recruited from the ranks of potential harvest hands in every part of the state, H. C. Sanders, Louisiana agricultural extension director of L. S. U., who has just returned from a personal survey of the harvest fields of the state, said Saturday.

Louisiana could expect at the outside only a few hundred war prisoners who would be totally inadequate to gather the huge crops that are now ripening for the harvest prospects are greater today, Sanders stated, than they have been in many years for bumper crops from more than 1,000,000 acres of cotton, 600,000 acres of rice and 200,000 acres of sugar cane. Besides, Louisiana has 23,000 more acres of sweet potatoes and 25,000 more acres of peanuts than last year's record crops.

"The only hope that I can see," the extension director said, "is for Louisiana to mobilize locally every man, woman and child who can make a contribution to this harvesting program and then add to this group such imported labor as war prisoners, Jamaicans and Mexicans. This group can be further augmented if industry will release temporarily former field hands who left the farms during the slack season."

The campaign to recruit the needed help, Sanders emphasized, should be land, is their lightweight tropical uniform.

Double talk dept: The manpower commission's revised listing of essential industries changes "hardwood baseboards" to "wood base hardboard." No matter what you call it, it's still the board that runs around the inside walls of your home.

Local Attorney Named President; Others Elected At Meeting

Election of officers and naming of directors for the Twin City Community Chest and council took place at a board meeting recently held here, at which time the new president named was Clyde R. Brown, prominent local attorney.

Plans for the coming year's activities were outlined.

Other officers besides Mr. Brown are to be as follows: R. D. Kellogg, vice-president; Ben R. Downing, treasurer, and Mrs. Mary Mullis, executive secretary.

The new board of directors comprises: Ira Cagle, F. J. Cox, Ben R. Downing, John S. Fox, J. G. Hicks, Mrs. Ida Kaplan, C. H. McHenry, Charles M. Mitchell, W. J. Sherouse, C. W. Wallace, Tom W. Davenport, A. R. Wisenbaker, R. D. Kellogg, G. T. Gallaspy, E. N. Thompson, Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs. Clifford Strauss, A. B. Clarkson, and Elmer Stagle.

REDS ALLOW DIPLOMATS TO RETURN TO MOSCOW

MOSCOW, July 31.—(AP)—The Russians showed complete confidence Saturday in their ability to protect Moscow from the Axis when the foreign commissariat announced that the diplomatic corps had been authorized to return from Kuibyshev, for nearly two years headquarters for the foreign colony in Russia.

The action doubtless was based on the Red army's crushing current counter-offensive against the faltering Germans.

Embassy staffs were shifted en masse to Kuibyshev, along with Soviet government agencies, late in 1941 when the Nazi threat again Moscow was greatest.

Soviet Chief of Protocol Fedor Fedorovich Molochkov, who notified the embassies and legations they could return to Moscow, went to Kuibyshev to supervise the movement.

BUILD AND FIGHT WITH THE NAVY SEABEES

And Follow Your Trade in The U. S. Navy

Construction experience, not military training—that's what it takes to make the grade in the Seabees. If you know your trade, Navy training takes care of the rest. In a few short weeks you learn military customs, methods, maneuvers. You quickly put yourself in tip-top condition. You become an expert with rifle, revolver, machine gun. You soon adapt your civilian skill to Navy requirements. And you and your fellow Seabees become a first-class fighting unit as well as a construction unit.

Immediately upon joining the Seabees, you are given a rating in your specialty. This rating may be as high as Chief Petty Officer, depending on your age and ability.

WHERE WILL YOU TRAIN?

There are two training centers for Seabees—one at Davisville, Rhode Island; and one at Williamsburg, Virginia. At training school you live under the same conditions you will meet at advance bases. You build and sleep in the same Quonset huts which will be your quarters abroad. You drill, train, work, make landings from the sea and set up actual Naval Bases in the face of opposition. You finish your training—ready to build for the fighting forces and ready to fight for what you build.

based not only on economic necessity but also on the quality of patriotism which must be demonstrated in the winning of the war. There are hundreds of men and women who are available, he said, in every parish of the state.

"Where it may be possible to obtain ten war prisoners per parish to do the work," Mr. Sanders went on, "there are a hundred potential workers from home sources as well as from nearby states who can step into the breach and do the job. They are the ones who must be depended on for the sake of the state, for the whole nation and for the war effort."

Louisiana has three critical crops—cotton, sugar and rice. From the cotton essential war materials are derived, as well as fabric for clothing, feed for livestock and food for human beings. The war department has placed cotton as second only to steel in the essentials of war production. Sugar cane's important place in the food supply of the nation is recognized throughout the world and has been emphasized in the regulations for its rationing to insure supplies for consumption at home and abroad. Rice is in a similar category. As a matter of fact, rice today is virtually unobtainable and the nation is looking toward the forthcoming crop as one of special need in the American diet, Sanders said.

PARKER, LARUE IN MAIN EVENT

Feud To Be Renewed In Feature Match At Stadium Wednesday

The mat feud between Jack LaRue of Iowa and Allen "Sailor" Parker of Tennessee starts all over again here Wednesday night when the two ring veterans clash in the main event on Promoter Gus Kallo's weekly program.

LaRue, former University of Iowa athlete who was rejected for military service recently because of weak eyes, and Parker have been at odds for some time. According to Promoter Kallo there doesn't seem to be any particular reason for their feeling and Parker has been enlightening only to the extent that he "just doesn't like LaRue."

Promoter Kallo tried unsuccessfully to heal the breach between the two grapplers when he matched them as partners in a two team match last month. Parker, after two short skirmishes in that particular brawl, turned his back on LaRue and let the Iowa scrapper absorb a beating at the hands of Jack Olsen and "Butch" Martin.

A couple of weeks later LaRue got hold of Parker in a challenge match and proceeded to get revenge for the treatment he had received in the tag scrap. Now it appears that Parker wants change and change that defers the semi-final battle will bring together Joe Koepcke, the wiry Texan, and a newcomer to the mat wars, Bill Hickson of Knoxville, Tenn.

Promoter Kallo last night said Hickson was a protégé of Buck Lawton, one of the leading contenders for Kallo's world middleweight wrestling crown 10 years ago. Kallo considers Lawton one of the best middleweights of his time and said his old rival had come forward with a good prospect in Hickson.

The Parker-LaRue match will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win. Koepcke and Hickson will wrestle over an hour time limit route, also two falls to win.

GRAYSON'S BASEBALL SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson
CHICAGO, July 31.—(P)—The season was the most startling bit of baseball news since Abner Doubleday's first double with the bases full. Here was a famous manager of 20 years' experience hailed as the Miracle Man of 1943 despite the fact that his club was in the midst of an anticipated slump.

It was a fact that the club was undoubtedly would have been named manager of the year. Without the assistance of a simple practical baseball man, Harris tackled what appeared to be a hopeless assignment.

Yet Harris kept the Phillies in the running until the month ago. The Old Boy Manager quickly became something of an idol in Philadelphia. The Phillies were the baseball story of the year. By June 20, the club had drawn more than it attracted all last season. From now on everything is velvet.

Harris had the Phillies hopped up, but Owner William D. Cox and the six or eight directors who know nothing whatsoever of baseball wouldn't let them alone.

In his enthusiasm, young Bill Cox frequently visited the clubhouse to tell the noble athletes how to hit. President Cox wanted Harris to fire Norrorthy for failing to score from second base on a single to center field. When, under instructions from Harris, Danny Murphy attempted to hit behind the runner, Cox told him he should have hit to left field.

Cox congratulated Babe Dahlgren on his hitting, told him how sad it was that the club did not have a left fielder who could throw. Then he spotted Danny Litwhiler, who played left field, on the back for hitting at home run, told him what a pity it was that the club had such a stumblebum at third base. Dahlgren was playing third base, Dahlgren and Litwhiler were thicker than Jim Braddock and Joe Gould, roomed together, wore each other's ties, etc. You can imagine the result.

Cox hired his own trainer, who is suspected of carrying post-battle clubhouse conversation to the owner. Many a thing is said in the heat of a lost game that is quickly forgotten, but Cox, from reports, might have got the idea that there was discussion. As everybody but Cox and his directors realized, the Phillies were playing 'way over their heads, and when the hop wore off they went into the inevitable slump.

It was then that the directors got to second guessing Harris, who kept his mouth shut and bit his lip to keep from laughing.

Cox and the directors gave a good imitation of stockholders who wanted the club to pay out in a year. One word from them and Harris did precisely what he pleased.

So Fuhrer Cox, as he is called when not around, did what all non-baseball men owners do when the club is losing or they are displeased. He fired the manager, brought in pigeon-toed Ed Freddie Fitzsimmons as the party was over.

LESS CROWDING NOW
NEW YORK.—(P)—Due to overcrowding in sprint races of five and one-half furlongs, future fields will be limited to 12 horses at the Jamaica race track.

STAR VOL SHORTSTOP PEDDLED TO PHILLIES

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 31.—(P)—Ray Hamrick, freshman shortstop of the Nashville Vols, today was sold to the Pittsburgh club of the National league for an unannounced cash sum, Vol Manager Larry Gilbert said.

The deal was completed by Gilbert via telephone with President Bill Cox of the Phils in Chicago.

Present plans are for Hamrick to finish the Southern association season here, but Cox feels an urgent need for the infielder before mid-September he has the right to summon him provided Nashville is sent a satisfactory replacement, Gilbert said.

SOLUTION FOUND FOR LIGHT SQUAD

Virginia Coach Says 'T' Formation To Solve His Problems

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 31.—(P)—Cheer up, chumps, bespectacled Frank Murray may be able to help some of you befuddled football brethren solve the current $64 football riddle. Where is this new material coming from and what are the coaches going to do with it if it does turn up?

University of Virginia's soft-spoken coach believes the answer to this puzzling football question lies in that little gadget known as the "T" formation.

Now some exponents of the "T" chumps, may not thoroughly agree with Murray's philosophy which is, briefly, that "you can do more from the T formation with mediocre material than any formation I know."

Murray, who came here from Marquette to introduce the "T" into the land of Dixie, cites seven reasons for putting his faith in the "T" during a war-time football season when college material undoubtedly will be lacking.

"The T formation is ideally suited for small boys who can't play power football," Murray declared. "It's a mistake to think you need superlative material to make it go."

"The T is a kind of football kids love to play; therefore it is easier to coach. These 16 and 17-year-olds should eat it up."

"The T puts a premium on brains rather than in brawn and beef. 'Fourth, the T makes essentially for a open game, spreading the defense. But they bunched their blows to score by lay the opposition open for runs or short quick passes.'"

BRADY'S WHIP BUCS
PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(P)—The Boston Braves jumped on Wally Hebert for four runs in the seventh inning today to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-5 in the first of a five-game series.

The Bucs held their narrow half-game grip on second place in the National league despite the loss when the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals edged out Brooklyn 2-1 at St. Louis. The loss, however, drove Pittsburgh to a full tie games back of the pace-makers.

The Pirates surged ahead with a three-run burst in the sixth, but saw victory fade in the next inning when Boston scored four runs on five hits, including Kirby Farrell's two-run double that sent Wally Hebert to the showers. Jim Tobin's pinch single accounted for the other two tallies.

SOUTHERN

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 31.—(P)—Knoxville's high-stepping Smokies took a firm hold on first place in the Southern association race today with a double thumping of the Memphis Chiefs, 7-1 and 7-6.

Young Elden Lindsey led the visitors down with four singles in the first game as the Smokies battered Weldon West and W. Brown, and Babe Benning dumped a seventh-inning single in the deciding run in the shortened nightcap.

Cecil (Dynamite) Dunn, Knoxville first-sacker, hit his 11th and 12th home runs of the season, one in each game.

BARONS WIN OPENER
MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 31.—(P)—Birmingham captured the initial game from the Montgomery Rebels in their five game series here tonight as Bob Ferguson, ace right-hander, limiting the local club to four hits, two of them coming in the first inning. The score was 5 to 1.

A Saturday night crowd of some 10,000 spectators witnessed the game. Ferguson got off to a slow start, being nicknamed for a run in the opening round, but he went to work and had the Rebels eating out of his hand the rest of the way. Smith and Roberts had hits in the first inning and Vessey singled in the fourth and Montana gassed in the seventh. That was all the Rebels could do with Mr. Ferguson who was showing his home town friends how he could pitch.

The Barons got only seven hits off Hurdin Cathey, Rebel right hander, but they bunched their blows to score in the second, third and fifth and eighth innings.

HAEGG FAILS TO BEST MILE MARK

Gunder Beats Three Competitors In Race Over Cleveland Track

CLEVELAND, July 31.—(P)—Gunder Haegg outdistanced three competitors tonight to win a speedy one-mile race at the Baldwin-Wallace college track, but his time of four minutes, five and four-tenths seconds was a tenth below his United States best of 4:05.3, and even better marks he and his countryman Arne Andersson posted in Sweden.

Haegg took the lead in the second quarter mile and kept it all the way to finish five yards ahead of Bill Hulce, speedy New York university freshman. Hulce made a fast finish in an even four minutes, six seconds, but time ever made by an American runner.

Les Eisenhart, former Big Ten mile champion from Ohio State university, came in a poor fourth. Hulce's time was seven-tenths of a second faster than Glenn Cunningham's old record of 4:06.7, which led to Haegg last year.

Eisenhart set the pace at the quarter where he was timed in 59 and then Haegg, his long hair flopping with each stride, went ahead to stay. He was timed at the half in 2:02 and at the three-quarter mark in 3:03, but he kept the pace up the pace the fourth time around.

The spectacle of Dadds was only a yard behind Haegg at the three-quarter mark and a yard ahead of Hulce, but faded in the stretch as the surprising New Yorker turned in a closing burst of speed to finish a yard ahead of Dadds, timed at 4:06.1.

Haegg's best American time, 4:05.3, was posted last week at Cambridge, Mass., after he had done 4:04.6 in Sweden. His countryman, Arne Andersson, meanwhile has done 4:02.6 in the New York City mile race, a four-minute mile. Haegg also was clocked for 1:50.0 meters but his 3:47.8 also was behind the 3:47.8 he made at Cambridge last week.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(P)—The Army-Navy game will open the football season at West Point in September and probably close it, too, for the Army-Navy game will be the last of the season.

Commander Mal Stevens, who is organizing a team at the big Sampson, N. Y., naval training station, are looking for a late September game.

The hottest bidding at the coming Lexington, Ky., horse sales likely will be for a St. James lot, he's a half brother to Sky Larking.

Relief Discourteous
Just before Luke Appling of the White Sox hit his first home run of the season against the Yanks the other day, he belted three of Jake Wade's batting practice tosses into the stands.

In the clubhouse Luke was feeling so good about it that he offered to buy Wade a drink. "Sure," said Luke, "but I'll trade up my mind that you can hit the ball out of the park when I'm throwing it handed. I'll just change over and throw right hand from now on."

PARKER, LARUE

IN MAIN EVENT

Feud To Be Renewed In Feature Match At Stadium Wednesday

The mat feud between Jack LaRue of Iowa and Allen "Sailor" Parker of Tennessee starts all over again here Wednesday night when the two ring veterans clash in the main event on Promoter Gus Kallio's weekly program.

LaRue, former University of Iowa athlete who was rejected for military service recently because of weak eyes, and Parker have been at odds for some time. According to Promoter Kallio there doesn't seem to be any particular reason for the "feeling" and Parker has been enlightening only to the extent that he "just doesn't like LaRue."

Promoter Kallio tried unsuccessfully to heal the breach between the two grapplers when he matched them as partners in a tag team match last month. Parker, after two short skirmishes in that particular brawl, turned his back on LaRue and let the Iowa scrapper absorb a beating at the hands of Jack Olsen and "Butch" Martin.

A couple of weeks later LaRue got hold of Parker in a challenge match and proceeded to get revenge for the treatment he had received in the tag scrap. Now it appears that Parker wants a chance to avenge that defeat.

The semi-final fight will bring together Joe Kopecky, the wiry Texan, and a newcomer to the mat wars, Bill Hickson of Knoxville, Tenn.

Promoter Kallio last night said Hickson was a protégé of Buck Lawson, one of the leading contenders for Kallio's world middleweight wrestling crown 10 years ago. Kallio considers Lawson one of the best mat men of his time and said his old rival had come forward with a good prospect in Hickson.

The Parker-LaRue match will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win. Kopecky and Hickson will wrestle over an hour time limit, two falls to win.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson

CHICAGO, July 31.—(AP)—Someone remarked, there could not have been more unbelief registered in Philadelphia had Shibe park suddenly walked over to the Schuylkill river for a drink.

Stanley Raymond Harris' dismissal as manager of the Phillies in mid-season was the most startling bit of baseball news since Abner Doubleday's first double with the bases full.

Here was a famous manager of 20 years' experience, hailed as the Miracle Man of 1943 despite the fact that his club was in the midst of an anticipated slump. Bucky Harris undoubtedly would have been named manager of the year. Without the assistance of a single practical baseball man, Harris tackled what appeared to be a hopeless assignment.

Yet Harris kept the Phillies in the running until a month ago. The Old Boy Manager quickly became something of an idol in Philadelphia. The Phillies were the baseball story of the year. By June 29, the club had drawn more than it attracted all last season. From now on everything is velvet.

Harris had the Phillies hopped up, but Owner William D. Cox and the six or eight directors who know nothing whatsoever of baseball wouldn't let them alone.

In his enthusiasm, young Bill Cox frequently visited the clubhouse to tell the noble athletes how to hit.

President Cox wanted Harris to fine Ron Norkley for failing to score from second base on a single to center field. When, under instructions from Harris, Danny Murtagh attempted to hit behind the runner, Cox told him he should have hit to left field.

Cox congratulated Babe Dahlgren on his hitting, told him how sad it was that the club did not have a left fielder who could throw. Then he petted Danny Littlefield, who played left field, on the back for hitting a home run, told him what a pity it was that the club had such a stumblebum at third base. Dahlgren was playing third base, Dahlgren and Littlefield were thicker than Jim Braddock and Joe Gould, roomed together, wore each other's ties, etc. You can imagine the result.

Cox hired his own trainer, who is suspected of carrying post-battle clubhouse conversation to the owner. Many a thing is said in the heat of a lost game that is quickly forgotten, but Cox, from reports, might have got the idea that there was dissension.

As everybody but Cox and his directors realized, the Phillies were playing "way over their heads," and when the hop over they went into the inevitable tailspin.

It was then that the directors got to second guessing Harris, who kept his mouth shut and hit his lip to keep from laughing.

Cox and the directors gave a good imitation of stockholders who wanted the club to pay out in a year.

One word from them and Harris did precisely what he pleased.

So Fuehrer Cox, as he is called when not around, did what all non-baseball men owners do when the club is losing or they are displeased. He fired the manager, brought in pigeon-toed Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons as the party was over.

STAR VOL SHORTSTOP PEDDLED TO PHILLIES

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—Ray Hamrick, freshman shortstop of the Nashville Vols, today was sold to the Pittsburgh club of the National league for an unannounced cash sum. Vol Manager Larry Gilbert said.

The deal was completed by Gilbert via telephone with President Bill Cox of the Phils in Chicago.

Present plans are for Hamrick to finish the Southern association season here, but if Cox feels an urgent need for the infielder before mid-September he has the right to summon him provided Nashville is sent a satisfactory replacement, Gilbert said.

SOLUTION FOUND FOR LIGHT SOAD

Virginia Coach Says 'T' Formation To Solve His Problems

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 31.—(AP)—Cheer up, chumps, bespectacled Frank Murray may be able to help some of you befuddled football brethren solve the current $64 football riddle. Where is this year's material coming from and what are the coaches going to do with it if it does turn out.

University of Virginia's soft-spoken coach believes the answer to this puzzling football question lies in that little gadget known as the "T" formation.

Now some exponents of the "T" chumps, may not thoroughly agree with Murray's philosophy which is, briefly, that "you can do more from the 'T' formation with mediocre material than any formation I know."

Murray, who came here from Marquette to introduce the "T" into the land of Dixie, cites seven reasons for putting his faith in the "T" during a war-time football season when college material undoubtedly will be well, scarce is hardly the word for it.

"The 'T' formation is ideally suited for small boys who can't play power football," Murray declared. "It's a mistake to think you need superlative material to make it go."

"The 'T' is the kind of football kids love to play, therefore it is easier to coach. These 16 and 17-year-olds should eat it up."

"The 'T' puts a premium on brains rather than in brawn and beef."

"Fourth, the 'T' makes essentially for an open game, spreading the defense to lay the opposition open for runs or short quick passes."

BRAVES WHIP BUCS

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(AP)—The Boston Braves jumped on Wally Hebert for four runs in the seventh inning today to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-5 in the first of a five-game series.

The Bucs held their narrow half-game grip on second place in the National league despite the loss when the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals edged out Brooklyn, 2-1 at St. Louis. The loss, however, dropped Pittsburgh to a full ten games back of the pace-makers.

The Pirates surged ahead with a three-run burst in the sixth, but saw their victory chance fade in the next inning when Boston scored four runs on five hits, including Kirby Farrell's two-run double that sent Wally Hebert to the showers. Jim Tobin's pinch single accounted for the other two tallies.

STUDENT SENATE NOW SUSPENDED

Tech Group Not To Be Activated Until War Is Ended

RUSTON, La., July 31.—(Special)—Activities of the student senate of Louisiana Tech have been suspended for the duration of the war, it was announced this week by Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, following a conference with Dr. H. I. Seabrook, faculty

The decision was reached because of the absence of leading officers of the organization, who were elected last spring.

Wallace Gable of Shreveport, who was to serve as president, recently was inducted into the army.

Dr. Sachs pointed out that there is no provision in the constitution and by-laws of the Student Body association for the succession of officers to head the student senate. He also indicated that a scarcity of advanced civilian men students on the campus at present would make it inadvisable to undertake filling the vacancies.

Officers of the student senate now attending Tech include Schumpert Barnes, secretary, and Ragan Defreese, treasurer.

Dr. Sachs plans to meet soon with Miss Barnes and Defreese to select a

ACTIVITIES

The center, 600 N. De la Salle street, is an extension of the N. C. C. S. in downtown Monroe of which John Leonard is director. Mr. Leonard is very much interested in the center and is lending as much aid as possible. W. B. Baker is the director of the colored USO and claims that according to the attendance that the center is a definite need to the soldiers at Selman field. Last Thursday evening's entertainment was the second of a series of ten which is being sponsored. These entertainments are sponsored under the name of the soldiers in each barrack from No. 1 to No. 10 and an attendance prize of $2.50 in war stamps is given to the soldier in his barrack.

Last Thursday evening the prize went to Corporal Abe Allen and the past Thursday evening the prize went to Private Eddie Ray. The program was the best that has been had at the center, being under the direction of M. V. Sims. The program con-

by M. V. Sims. The program consisted of the following numbers: a solo by Verdia Mae Logan, a dance by Odessa Strawder, selection from Dunbar by L. William, a solo by M. V. Sims, with E. Jones at the piano, dancing and an old time grand

The prize was awarded by H. E. Gaus, who made a timely talk in behalf of the soldiers. The prize was picked by E. M. Davenport and others assisting in the program were O. B. Medlock, Edwina Loche, and Marie Penn Barrack No. 3 will have the program next Thursday night. Baker again thanks all for the cooperation given to the USO. Refreshments were served and 300 persons were present.

COCREHAM IS NAMED TO REPLACE RUFUS FONTENOT

BATON ROUGE, La., July 31.—(AP)—

Governor Sam Jones announced Saturday the appointment of Roland Cochrane as acting state collector of revenue, succeeding Rufus W. Fontenot, and of Matt J. Fruge, as acting state civilian defense coordinator, succeeding George H. ...

The shifts were made to name a replacement for Fontenot, given a leave of absence to enter army service with a major's commission. Fontenot said he would report for duty next week at Camp Custer, Mich.

Cocroham has been serving as state defense coordinator with Fruge as his assistant. Earlier Cocroham had been acting executive director of the state department of commerce and industry and prior to that as executive Fruge has served with the state office of civilian defense under Governor Jones. He is former state adjutant general of the Louisiana department of the American Legion.

He came to Baton Rouge December 10, 1941, from his home at Eunice, where he had been engaged in the retail furniture business for 17 years. A veteran of the first World War, Flange is a past war commander.

Frugé established the aircraft warning service and civil air raid warning system in Louisiana under supervision of the Third fighter command.

TAFT PROPOSES DRAFT CHANGES

Senator Would Put Men Over 30 And Those Under In Different Classes

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Predicting early action by congress to overhaul the selective service system, Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, wrote Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey Saturday urging the separation of men over 30 years of age and those younger into different draft classifications.

Taft told an interviewer he felt confident that demands for a halt in the drafting of fathers, linked with indications of an easing off in selective service quotas, would bring the whole question of a reassessment of the present induction system before congress shortly after it reconvenes in September from a summer recess.

In his letter to Hershey, Taft said he believed that if a division were made at the 30-year-old age level, it probably would not be necessary to draft those over 30 in the future.

"I feel very strongly," the Ohioan told Hershey, "that men of 30 and younger should be drafted before the older men."

Taft listed six reasons for the proposed change in the present system under which draft calls go out to men up to 38, with married men being taken after the quotas of single men are exhausted. These were:

1. Men under 30 make better soldiers and are more likely to stand the physical strain.
2. Men under 30 are not going to be comfortable staying at home even if they are married. In fact, many have already volunteered.
3. Men under 30 have not reached responsible positions in the various civilian activities in which they are engaged and can much more easily and with less sacrifice give up these activities. This is particularly true of young professional men.
4. Men under 30 are of less value to their employers because they have not reached the key positions where experience counts.
5. Men under 30 have not built up the standard of expense which older men have assumed. This means that their families will still fully be able to support them, to which they may return temporarily while their husbands are in the service.
6. In the case of men under 30, it is much more likely that their wives will have families still fully able to support them, to which they may return temporarily while their husbands are in the service.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT KING PETER, ALEXANDRA

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—The year-old secret engagement of Princess Alexandra of Greece and King Peter of Yugoslavia was announced formally by Mimilios Trifunovic, premier of the Yugoslav government-in-exile.

No date has been set for the wedding of the two young royal exiles. Alexandra's mother, Princess Aspasia, explained that "We want to hear good news of the war before anything else."

The marriage, which has been approved by the Yugoslav government and both royal families, is expected to be helpful in the solving of post-war problems in the Balkans.

The princess, a pretty, dark-haired girl, used to serve waffles and coffee to American officers and nurses over a snack bar at the London Red Cross club. There she met King Peter, a slender young man in naval uniform who often dropped in to listen to the music of a United States infantry dance band.

The vivacious princess, a great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria and a cousin of the duchess of Kent, works now at the Allied prisoners of war office here.

MOTORISTS ASKED TO SIGN COUPONS

Gasoline Users Should Endorse All Coupons When Received

Motorists and all other gasoline users were reminded today by the local war price and rationing board that all the coupons in their gasoline ration books must be endorsed immediately.

Coupons in new books issued after July 22 should be endorsed as soon as they are received from the war price and rationing board, officials of the board said. In addition, users should endorse coupons immediately on any coupons now in their possession or received before July 22.

In the past it has not been necessary to write notations on coupons until they were actually used to buy gas. Immediate endorsements are required under a new OPA amendment both as a convenience to the public and as a help to OPA investigators in checking misuse of ration coupons falling into the hands of persons not entitled to them, the board officials pointed out.

Under the new plan the motorist by spending a few minutes endorsing his coupons all at once will save delay and trouble when he goes to a filling station to buy gasoline, the board officials said.

"The new requirement also means greater protection to the motorist whose book is lost or stolen, since the finder or thief will not be able to pass off the coupons as his own by writing in his own license number." "By cooperating in making these endorsements promptly the rightful holders of a gasoline ration will be rendering invaluable assistance to OPA in a job of detecting and preventing a black market in gasoline and gasoline coupons. Endorsements make it possible to distinguish the coupons that have been properly used from those that have been obtained by theft, counterfeiting, and illegal purchase, and put into unlawful use by black market operators. Individuals who endorse these coupons will thus help OPA see that gasoline is distributed and used in a fair and equitable manner."

Attention was called to the fact that whenever a motor vehicle registration number is changed, this change shall be noted by the war price and rationing board or state registration official, on the front cover of the book. The coupons bearing the old number may then be used without change.

CIVIC CENTER GROWS POPULAR

Hours Arranged To Suit Public; Thursday To Feature Private Parties

The new recreation center, 1700 South Grand street, is becoming increasingly popular with the public, especially the teen age girls and boys. Miss Lucyle Godwin, director.

Friday night there was a watermelon party, followed by dancing and games and the building was filled with young people engaged in varied activities.

It has been decided to designate Thursday night as "closed night." On that night the public who desire private parties of any nature can obtain the free use of the building and the first one who speaks for the privilege will receive a grant of this favor. On this night only, the other people not in the private party being served will be asked not to go to the club.

This Thursday night feature is designed for churches, clubs and other groups who desire private parties at the center. It is expected to prove exceptionally popular. The public can at once make requests for the use of the building beginning Thursday night, but as stated, the first to ask will be the one group to be accommodated on that date.

The hours when the building will be open will be all mornings from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. except Saturdays and Sundays.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the building will be open from 5 p. m. to 9 p. m. Thursday, as stated, is to be reserved for private parties, while Friday and Saturday the hours will be 7 p. m. to 11 p. m.

WIDER SELECTION OF MEAT LIKELY

However, Increase In Rations During Coming Months Still Uncertain

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Meat counters through the nation soon should be exhibiting quantities of steaks, beef roasts, hamburgers and other cuts to give the housewife a wider choice in spending her meat ration coupons.

But this increase in beef may be offset to some extent by a smaller supply of pork during the next few weeks.

All in all, the meat supply situation looks more hopeful for the next eight or ten months, and with livestock numbers and production at a record level and beginning to outrun dwindling feed supplies, expanded marketings during this period appear fairly certain.

But whether the increased marketings will be reflected in increased civilian rations is a matter that has not yet been determined by the War Food Administration and the Office of Price Administration. However, WFA meat experts are inclined to doubt it, unless livestock marketings should, for a brief period, overwork facilities for storing any surplus meat over present civilian rations and war needs.

The WFA is now operating on the theory that it is wiser to store up any temporary extra production for future civilian and military use than to allow it to go into consumption at the time.

Regardless of whether there is any change in ration allowances, increased marketings would result in at least one favorable change in the meat supply situation from the consumer standpoint. During the past several months, consumers were not always able to get meat which they were entitled to under rationing, or they had a very limited choice. Those living long distances from meat producing and processing centers often had to go without while those nearer could get all to which they were entitled.

Larger supplies of beef can be expected because this is the season of the year when grass-fed cattle from the southwestern and western ranges start to market in big volume. That movement generally reaches a peak in the late fall and then starts tapering off again in November.

War Girl Of The Week

MISS MACKIE DUCHESNE

Miss Mackie Duchesne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duchesne, Route 3, Monroe. She was born near Rayville and lived there until she was seventeen years of age, at which time she and her family moved to Monroe.

Mackie attended the Rhymes and Rayville grammar schools and Mangham High school, graduating in June, 1940. She majored in commerce in high school.

After graduating from high school she accepted a position with the Farm Security Administration, Columbia, La., where she was employed for a short time.

In order to get more specialized business training than high school afforded, she resigned her job with the F. S. A. and enrolled in the Monroe Commercial school. By applying herself diligently she completed her business training in four months' time and on September 1, 1942, was employed by the 7th Sub-Depot, Selman field.

She works in the engineering department as a clerk in the production control section where she completes data for a progress chart on all engineering employees. She has proved herself a very efficient worker and is a credit to the sub-depot as a whole.

The Duchesne family is well represented in war work. Mackie has two brothers who are employed by the United States engineers, one at Barksdale field and another here at Selman field. Another brother, Ernie Duchesne, is employed at the sub-depot, Selman field, and is also in the engineering department. One sister, Miss Cilla Faye Duchesne, is employed at the Dixie Ordnance Works, Selman field.

Field Days at State Stations
Calhoun Agricultural Experiment Group To Invite Guests Aug. 6

Annual field days of the Louisiana Agricultural Experiment station will hold unusual interest because of war-time conditions, stated V. C. Taggart, director. The first one in north Louisiana for white farmers will be held at the St. Joseph station, August 5, and at the station at Calhoun, on August 6. Field days for negro farmers will be held at St. Joseph August 5 and Calhoun, August 6.

This year's attendance is urged, it is pointed out, because of the fact that the annual Farm and Home Week—an event of 30 years' observance—will not be held this summer. Transportation and labor shortage necessitated cancellation of the customary farm and home program, and the program at St. Joseph and Calhoun field days are being arranged cooperatively by experiment station and L. S. U. agricultural extension staff members to include as many phases of north Louisiana's farm activities as possible, Mr. Taggart said.

Persons who expect to attend either field day are urged to bring their own lunch, it is pointed out, because of food rationing. It is also suggested that parish groups work out transportation problems among themselves, using as few automobiles as possible.

Observation and discussion of approximately a dozen projects will be the feature of the day's program at Calhoun, which is being arranged by Dawson M. Johns, superintendent. Included in the program will be a discussion of routine management of the dairy herd breeding program, methods of permanent and supplemental pastures, cultural tests on peanuts, soybeans, cotton and corn and other crops. The poultry project will be another subject for observation and discussion, including experimental feed crops for poultry as well as proper housing methods.

County and state demonstration agents of north Louisiana are joining with other extension and experiment station workers in urging the attendance of as many farm men and women as possible.

METHODISTS PLAN PARTIES NIGHTLY

"Something new under the sun" is promised at the West Monroe First Methodist church from August 9-13. This year, because of wartime conditions, the summer camp for young people and intermediates had to be eliminated. In its place there will be a party every night at the church between the dates just cited.

Starting Monday, August 9, there will be a supper served to all young people and intermediates of the church in the social rooms in the basement. After the supper, there will be a short lecture by Rev. Minnette of Rayville. Concluding the night's entertainment, Miss Lucyle Godwin, director of the Monroe recreation department, will direct games and other entertainment. There will be no charge and a similar program and supper will be served each night through to August 13.

All young people are urged to attend, and something really unique in entertainment is assured.

4-H CLUBS IN ANNUAL OUTING

Wildlife Encampment Is Conducted With Large Enrollment

The state 4-H clubs held their annual wildlife encampment from July 26-30 at Jordan Johnson 4-H club camp near Calhoun. There were 253 persons enrolled, stated T. J. Jordan, state agent.

Classes were conducted each day on insect control, taught by M. Hull, Louisiana State university agricultural extension department. Rodent control was taught daily by R. Dean, of Jackson, Miss.

Conservation of trees and birds was taught by Bryant Bateman, of the L. S. U. agricultural extension department.

Recreation comprised swimming, baseball, games, marches, horseshoe throwing and other diversions.

Guests who delivered the principal addresses at the encampment were: H. C. Sanders, L. S. U. agricultural extension department; W. C. YOUNG WIFE SLAYER IS GIVEN TERM OF 10 YEARS

MOBILE, Ala., July 31.—(AP)—Eldon Thompson, 20-year-old wife slayer, was found guilty late Saturday morning on a charge of second degree murder and sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary.

The state had asked his execution for the murder of his pretty 18-year-old brunette bride, Martha Cooper Thompson, as she walked along Dauphin street to her work last January. The case went to the jury at 1:22 o'clock Friday afternoon. Judge David H. Edgington, in imposing the sentence, urged Thompson to take advantage of his 10-year term in the penitentiary to make himself right with "your Creator—who makes no mistakes."

TAFT PROPOSES DRAFT CHANGES

Senator Would Put Men Over 30 And Those Under In Different Classes

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(P)—Predicting early action by congress to overhaul the selective service system, Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, wrote Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey Saturday urging the separation of men over 30 years of age and those younger into different draft classifications.

Taft told an interviewer he felt confident that demands for a halt in the drafting of fathers, linked with indications of an easing off in selective service quotas, would bring the whole question of a reassessment of the present induction system before congress shortly after it reconvenes in September from a summer recess. In his letter to Hershey, Taft said he believed that if a division were made at the 30-year-old age level, it probably would not be necessary to draft those over 30 in the future.

"I feel very strongly," the Ohioan told Hershey, "that men of 30 and younger should be drafted before the older men."

Taft listed six reasons for the proposed change in the present system, under which draft calls go out to men up to 38, with married men being taken after the quotas of single men are exhausted. These were:

"1. Men under 30 make better soldiers and are more likely to stand the physical strain.
"2. Men under 30 are not going to be comfortable staying at home even if they are married. In fact, many have already volunteered.
"3. Men under 30 have not reached responsible positions in the various civilian activities in which they are engaged and can much more easily and with less sacrifice give up these activities. This is particularly true of young professional men.
"4. Men under 30 are of less value to their employers because they have not reached the key positions where experience counts.
"5. Men under 30 have not built up the standard of expense which older men have assumed. This means that their families will not have to make the severe readjustments which have to be made by many men over 30.
"6. In the case of men under 30, it is much more likely that their wives will have families still fully able to support them, to which they may return temporarily while their husbands are in the service."

"Under the new plan the motorist by spending a few minutes endorsing his coupons all at once will save delay and trouble when he goes to a filling station to buy gasoline," the board officials said.

"The new requirement also means greater protection to the motorist whose book is lost or stolen, since the finder or thief will not be able to pass off the coupons as his own by writing in his own license number."

"By cooperating in making these endorsements promptly the rightful holders of a gasoline ration will be rendering invaluable assistance to OPA in its job of detecting and preventing a black market in gasoline and gasoline coupons. Endorsements make it possible to distinguish the coupons that have been properly used from those that have been obtained by theft, counterfeiting, and illegal purchase, and put into unlawful use by black market operators. Individuals who endorse these coupons will thus help OPA see that gasoline is distributed and used in a fair and equitable manner."

*Attention was called to the fact that whenever a motor vehicle registration number is changed, this change shall be noted by the war price and rationing board or state registration official, on the front cover of the book. The coupons bearing the old number may then be used without change.

"The new requirement also means greater protection to the motorist whose book is lost or stolen, since the finder or thief will not be able to pass off the coupons as his own by writing in his own license number."

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT KING PETER, ALEXANDRA

LONDON, July 31.—(P)—The year-old secret engagement of Princess Alexandra of Greece and King Peter of Yugoslavia was announced formally by Mimoslo Trifunovic, premier of the Yugoslav government-in-exile. No date has been set for the wedding of the two young royal exiles. Alexandra's mother, Princess Aspasia, explained that "We want to hear good news of the war before anything else."

The marriage, which has been approved by the Yugoslav government and both royal families, is expected to be helpful in the solving of post-war problems in the Balkans.

The princess, a pretty, dark-haired girl, used to serve waffles and coffee to American officers and nurses over a snack bar at the London Red Cross club. There she met King Peter, a slender young man in naval uniform who often dropped in to listen to the music of a United States infantry band.

The vivacious princess, a great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria and a cousin of the duchess of Kent, works now at the Allied prisoners of war office here.

CIVIC CENTER GROWS POPULAR

Hours Arranged To Suit Public; Thursday To Feature Private Parties

The new recreation center, 1700 South Grand street, is becoming increasingly popular with the public, especially the teen age girls and boys. Miss Lucyle Godwin, director, Friday night there was a watermelon party, followed by dancing and games and the building was filled with young people engaged in varied activities.

It has been decided to designate Thursday night as "closed night." On that night the public who desire private parties of any nature can obtain the free use of the building and the first one who speaks for the privilege will receive a grant of this favor. On this night only, the other people not in the private party being served will be asked not to go to the club. This Thursday night feature is designed for churches, clubs and other groups who desire private parties at the center. It is expected to prove exceptionally popular. The public can at once make requests for the use of the building, beginning Thursday night, but as stated, the first to ask will be the one group to be accommodated on that date.

The hours when the building will be open will be all mornings from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. except Saturdays and Sundays.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the building will be open from 5 p. m. to 9 p. m. Thursday, as stated, is to be reserved for private parties, while Friday and Saturday the hours will be 7 p. m. to 11 p. m.

WIDER SELECTION OF MEAT LIKELY

However, Increase In Rations During Coming Months Still Uncertain

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(P)—Meat counters through the nation soon should be exhibiting quantities of steaks, beef roasts, hamburgers and other cuts to give the housewife a wider choice in spending her meat ration coupons.

But this increase in beef may be offset to some extent by a smaller supply of pork during the next few weeks.

All in all, the meat supply situation looks more hopeful for the next eight or ten months, and with livestock numbers and production at a record level and beginning to outrun dwindling feed supplies, expanded marketings during this period appear fairly certain.

But whether the increased marketings will be reflected in larger civilian rations is a matter that has not yet been determined by the War Food administration and the Office of Price administration. However, WFA meat experts are inclined to doubt it, unless livestock marketings should, for a brief period, overcrowd facilities for storing any surplus meat over present civilian rations and war needs.

The WFA is now operating on the policy that it is wiser to store up any temporary extra production for future civilian and military use than to allow it to go into consumption at the time.

Regardless of whether there is any change in ration allowances, increased marketings would result in at least one favorable change in the meat supply situation from the consumer standpoint. During the past several months, consumers were not always able to get meat to which they were entitled under rationing, or they had a very limited choice. Those living long distances from meat producing and processing centers often had to go without while those nearer could get all to which they were entitled.

Larger supplies of beef can be expected because this is the season of the year when grass-fed cattle from the southwestern and western ranges start to market in big volume. That movement generally reaches a peak in the late fall and then starts tapering off again in November.

War Girl Of The Week

MISS MACKIE DUCHESNE

Miss Mackie Duchesne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duchesne, Route 3, Monroe. She was born near Rayville and lived there until she was seventeen years of age, at which time she and her family moved to Monroe. Mackie attended the Rhymes and Rayville grammar schools and Mangham High school, graduating in June, 1940. She majored in commerce in high school.

After graduating from high school she accepted a position with the Farm Security administration, Columbia, La., where she was employed for a short time.

In order to get more specialized business training than high school afforded, she resigned her job with the F. S. A. and enrolled in the Monroe Commercial school. By applying herself diligently she completed her business training in four months' time and on September 1, 1942, was employed by the 7th Sub-Depot, Selman field. She works in the engineering department as a clerk in the production control section where she compiles data for a progress chart on all engineering employees. She has proved herself a very efficient worker and is a credit to the sub-depot as a whole.

The Duchesne family is well represented in war work. Mackie has two brothers who are employed by the United States engineers, one at Barksdale field and another here at Selman field. Another brother, Esie Duchesne, is employed at the sub-depot, Selman field, and is also in the engineering department. One sister, Miss Cilla Faye Duchesne, is employed at the Dixie Ordnance Works, Sterling.

30 EDUCATORS NOW IN RUSTON

Are Pursuing Courses In Summer Workshop at Louisiana Tech

RUSTON, La., July 31.—(Special)—Thirty educational leaders from seven parishes—Lincoln, Jackson, Webster, Union, Bienville, Richland and Morehouse—have been attracted to Louisiana Tech's summer workshop, now completing the third of its six weeks of operation.

Offered by the college in cooperation with the state department of education to promote an improvement in education and living conditions in Louisiana, the workshop is designed for teachers, principals and parish supervisors. Dr. F. C. Jenkins, director of Southern Association study, of Nashville, Tenn., is in charge, with Miss Whilden Wallace, of Holtsville, High school, Deatsville, Ala., as co-director.

R. L. Vining, director of student teaching at Louisiana Tech, is serving as local coordinator. Consultants include: Mrs. Camilla Best, of the division of audio-visual aids, New Orleans city schools; Dr. Mildred English, of the Peabody training school, Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Ga.; Mrs. Edith J. Fewell, instructor at the Norris school, Norris, Tenn.; Miss Lena Moore, helping teacher for D. C. Heath and company, Atlanta, Ga.; and Miss Alma Schmalzrid, a state supervisor, of Baton Rouge, and Miss Helen Woodard, teacher personnel counselor of Louisiana Tech.

Workshop personnel is as follows: Mrs. Helen H. Barnett, elementary teacher at the Louisiana Methodist orphanage, Ruston; Mrs. Ruth Jenkins Board, fifth grade teacher, Arcadia; Fred H. Weavers, principal of the McGinty rural school, Bonita; Mrs. Georgia Hill Caldwell, elementary teacher, Delhi; Miss Martha Clingan, English teacher, Ruston High school; Troy C. Cotten, principal of Bonita High school; Miss Ruby Craton, supervisor of Webster parish schools, Minden; Miss Judith A. Crymes, American history and civics teacher, Ruston High school.

Miss Hazel DeFrees, English teacher, Ruston High school; Mrs. Annie May Delony, substitute teacher, of Castor; Miss Jessamine Elsworth, social studies and ninth grade teacher, Ruston High school; Morelle Emmons, principal of Simsboro High school; P. P. Ferguson, elementary principal, Bastrop; Mrs. Kathryn C. Gosselin, elementary principal, Bastrop; Miss Maggie Haws, supervisor of Morehouse parish schools, Bastrop; Mrs. Mary W. Lewis, sixth grade teacher at Hillcrest Grammar school, Ruston; S. G. Lucky, principal of Bastrop High school.

C. W. Montgomery, principal of Mer Rouge High school; Miss Dorothy Ellen Nolan, third grade teacher, of Gilbert; R. L. Seegers, supervisor of Lincoln parish schools, Ruston; Miss Ruth Spier, elementary principal, Bastrop; Miss Daisy White, mathematics teacher, Ruston High school; Miss Mary Witt, civics teacher at Ruston High school; C. T. Woodard, supervisor of Jackson parish schools, Jonesboro; Mrs. Mary Bess Hilton Taylor, elementary teacher, of Ruston; Mrs. Etta B. Meeks, elementary principal, Farmville; Miss Maggie Hinton, English teacher at Ruston High school; Miss Mary Hines, elementary teacher, of Simsboro, and Miss Ruth Johnston, science and mathematics teacher at Ruston High school.

Flying Fortresses used in training combat crews at Hendricks Field have landed over 32,219 times with only eight minor accidents.

"The new requirement also means greater protection to the motorist whose book is lost or stolen, since the finder or thief will not be able to pass off the coupons as his own by writing in his own license number."

WITH THE ELIMINATION OF THE AXIS SPIES, U-BOATS, AND THEIR CREWS, PEACE SETTLES ONCE MORE ON THE CASTLE... BUT FOR WARBUCKS AND HIS MEN, THERE IS NO PEACE, NOR WILL THERE BE UNTIL THIS WAR IS WON.....

HOW DID YOU COME TO BRING PUNJAB AND TH' ASP AND WUN WEY AND CHUCK WITH YOU THIS TIME, DADDY?

OH, THEY'RE MEMBERS OF MY STAFF, ANNIE-

GEE! I'LL BET YOU'VE BEEN THROUGH A LOT O' FIGHTIN' TOGETHER-- HAVE YOU HAD ANY NARROW ESCAPES?

WELL, A FEW, ANNIE... BUT WE'RE STILL WELL AND CHIFFER--

YOU SAID YOU'RE HERE ON A MISSION-- WHAT SORT OF A MISSION?

A SECRET MISSION-- BUT IT WON'T KEEP US HERE, VERY LONG--

YOU DON'T MEAN YOU'RE GOIN' BACK OUT THERE, DO YOU?

OF COURSE! THIS WAR ISN'T OVER YET, BY A LONG WAY--

O' COURSE NOT-- I KNOW THAT-- BUT ISN'T THERE SOMETHIN' PORTANT YOU COULD DO HERE AT HOME FOR A WHILE?

NOTHING AS IMPORTANT AS KILLING THE ENEMIES OF ALL WE BELIEVE IN HERE AT HOME--

BUT ALL YOUR MILLS AND FACTORIES-- ISN'T MAKIN' TH' GUNS AN' TANKS AN' SHIPS AN' OTHER STUFF AS PORTANT AS FIGHTIN'?

OF COURSE-- BUT I CHOSE TO FIGHT-- YOU KNOW I TURNED OVER ALL MY BUSINESS TO THE ER. GOVERNMENT--

BUT ARE YOUR FACTORIES MAKIN' AS MUCH STUFF NOW AS WHEN YOU RAN 'EM, PERSONALLY?

THEY SHOULD BE-- AND I KNOW I'VE BEEN KILLING A LOT MORE JAPS, "PERSONALLY," THAN WHEN I RAN A FACTORY--

YOU SAY THIS MISSION WON'T KEEP YOU LONG-- GEE-- I WAS HOPIN' YOU'D STAY HERE-- SO I-- WE--

I KNOW, ANNIE-- THIS WAR WON'T LAST FOREVER-- THE HARDER WE ALL FIGHT, THE SOONER WE'LL HAVE PEACE--

PEACE! HOME-- OUR LOVED ONES AGAIN-- (THOSE WHO ARE LEFT)-- MOVIES-- CHURCH ON SUNDAYS-- AN END TO RATIONING (PERHAPS)-- CERTAINLY THE RIGHT TO GO AND COME AND TO LIVE IN SECURITY, AND AS WE PLEASE--

WE'RE NOT FIGHTING FOR A NEW WORLD, ANNIE-- NOT FOR A NEW WORLD FOR AMERICANS-- WE'RE FIGHTING FOR THE WORLD WE'VE GROWN UP IN AND PROSPERED IN-- FOR OUR OLD WORLD OF FREE AMERICA!

BUT IN THE MEANTIME, ANNIE-- I'M GOING TO GET YOU AWAY FROM THIS SEA COAST, BEFORE YOU SNAG MORE THAN YOU CAN HANDLE-- YES-- SOME QUIET, IF LAND TOWN-- THAT'S THE PLACE FOR YOU--

IT'S AN OUTRAGE!

EH? WHAT'S SUCH AN OUTRAGE?

IT'S AN OUTRAGE THAT SOME SHOULD HAVE SO MUCH, WHILE OTHERS HAVE SO LITTLE--

DICK TRACY

IT'S JUST A HUNCH, GENTLEMEN, I MAY BE ALL WRONG. I'M NIGHT WATCHMAN FOR THIS FUR STORE. AND WHEN I HEARD OF THE DISAPPEARANCE OF MR. TRACY, I THOUGHT YOU MIGHT LIKE TO HEAR MY STORY.

GO AHEAD.

AS I PUNCHED MY CLOCK THAT NIGHT AT 2:05 A.M., I NOTICED A DARK FIGURE CARRYING SOMETHING RIGHT PAST THIS LOADING PLATFORM—NOT 10 FEET AWAY.

TO ME, IT LOOKED LIKE AN ARMFUL OF FURS. PLACING MY HAND ON MY PISTOL BUTT, I CALLED, "WHAT'S GOING ON?"

"SURE," SHE SAYS—IT WAS A WOMAN—"MR. OLD MAN'S DRUNK AGAIN." I COULD SEE THEN IT WAS A MAN THIS BIG DAME WAS CARRYING.

DID YOU SEE THEIR FACES?

NO, IT WAS DARK AND RAINING PLENTY. BUT I WAS STILL SUSPICIOUS.

THINKING IT MIGHT BE A GAG, I FOLLOWED THEM. BUT SURE ENOUGH, SHE WENT UP INTO A TENEMENT.

CAN YOU SHOW US WHERE THAT TENEMENT IS?

MEANWHILE

ON THE OTHER HAND, EMIL, WE COULD ELIMINATE HIM BY SEALING HIM IN THE BASEMENT FLOOR IN CONCRETE.

YOU WON'T HAVE TO STAY HERE MUCH LONGER, MR. TRACY. WE HAVE ALMOST COMPLETED OUR PLANS FOR YOUR OBLITERATION, AND MY REVENGE.

DO I FRIGHTEN YOU, MR. TRACY, WITH MY UGLY FACE?

NOT PARTICULARLY. BUT THE FACE IS QUITE A CONTRAST TO THAT BEAUTIFUL LOCKET YOU'RE WEARING.

YOU SEE, MY FACE GOT THIS WAY AS I FLED THE OLD COUNTRY THROUGH ENEMY LINES IN A 24 TANK WITH TWO SOLDIERS. SOMEONE HURLED A BOTTLE OF GASOLINE.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO EXAMINE MY BEAUTIFUL LOCKET? EH? PERHAPS THE PICTURE INSIDE WOULD FASCINATE YOU, TOO.

MY HUSBAND!

YE GODS!

MR. MULLINS?

YEH

WELL, WHAT IS IT?

WHAT IS WHAT? YOU STARTED TO SAY SOMETHING TO ME.

THIS UNQUESTIONABLY IS THE CAR MR. MULLINS ARRIVED IN. ARE EITHER OF YOU MR. MULLINS?

I NEVER HEARD OF THE GUY.

NEITHER HAVE I.

BAH! I'D RUN YOU BUMS IN IF I DIDN'T HAVE TO GO TO THE MAYOR'S GREAT CIVIC LUNCHEON IN HONOR OF SOME OLD DOPE BY THE NAME OF MULLINS.

LUNCH?

WELL, LET'S GO!

FOLLOW THE COP'S CAR, LAD—MY NAME IS MULLINS.

SO IS MINE! I THINK THIS IS A SURPRISE PARTY FOR SOMEBODY.

SAY, YOU AIN'T LITTLE MOONSHINE? AH, YOU WERE ONLY A TINY TYKE WHEN I WENT AWAY TO COLLEGE.

NOW, I REMEMBER. YOU'RE COUSIN MUSCLE MULLINS! HAD SOME TROUBLE LEAVING THE PELTMAN FUR CO. LOFT ONE NIGHT.

THE WATCHMAN DIDN'T BELIEVE YOUR STORY ABOUT STUDYING TAXIDERMISTRY?

YES, POOR FELLOW—IF HE HADN'T CALLED ME A "LIAR," HE MIGHT BE HERE TO WELCOME ME TO DAY.

HERE HE COMES!

AND NOW, MY FRIENDS, LET OUR CHEERS RING WITH OUR HEARTFELT AFFECTION, ESTEEM AND ADMIRATION FOR—

HOORAY! R-R-RAY!

OUR HERO

OUR OWN BELOVED EZRA G. MUL—

NIX, MAYOR! "MUSCLES" IS TH' NAME—MUSCLES MULLINS.

PASS ME A PLATE! AND I'LL LET MOON MAKE MY SPEECH.

COUSIN MUSCLES IS A MUCH BETTER EATER THAN A SPEAKER.

I, EZRA G. MULLINS, AM GOING TO TELL THE MAYOR A THING OR TWO!

KEEP YOUR SEAT, EZRA. I'LL GO UP AND THROW THE MAYOR OUT TO YOU.

FRIENDLY FOE

FORESEEING THE PATH OF THE ARROWS, TARZAN AVOIDED THE VOLLEY. THEN HE CALLED OUT: "IF YOU DO NOT RELEASE THE CAPTIVES THE STRANGERS WILL KILL YOU WITH THEIR THUNDERSTICKS."

"WE CAUGHT THEM WELL. KEEP THEM," TIBELA ANSWERED DEFTLY. "WE FEAR NO MEN."

THAT NIGHT, AS TIBELA POSTED A STRONG GUARD, THE APE-MAN KEPT WATCH.

SILENTLY, TARZAN ENTERED THE VILLAGE—WHERE HE WHISPERED TO ONE OF THE CAPTIVES.

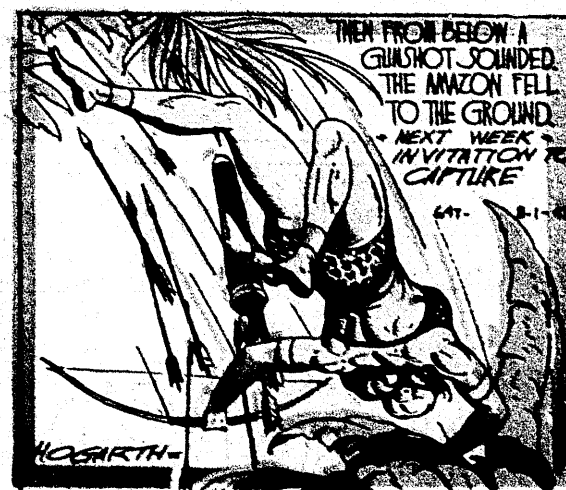

THE PIRATE WAS FRIGHTENED, SUSPECTING A TRICK, HE STRUGGLED.

THE SENTRIES SPRANG AWAKE. QUICKLY THEY FITTED ARROWS TO BOWS.

"I SAW HIM FIRST. IT IS MY RIGHT TO KILL HIM," ONE CRIED AS SHE DREW HER BOW TIGHT.

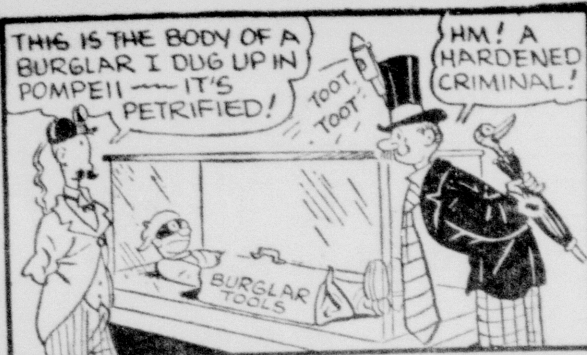

THEN FROM BELOW A GUNSHOT SOUNDED. THE AMAZON FELL TO THE GROUND. NEXT WEEK INVITATION TO CAPTURE

BLACKMARKET CROOKS
OUT OF THE OLD
HAUNTED HOUSE!

DONE A GOOD JOB,
TOO... HEERD TELL THE CHIEF OF POLICE MADE HIM AN AIR RAID
POLICEMAN

HI,
BUD?

HELLO, MISTER OOP...
CMON OVER AND TELL ME N' POP HOW YOU
KNOCKED OFF THOSE MEATLEGGERS!

...SO WHEN THEM
GUYS STARTED
SHOOTIN', I STARTED
SWINGIN'... AN' WHEN I STOPPED IT WAS ALL OVER!

GOLLY! AFTER WHAT WE WENT THROUGH YOU WERE PRETTY
BRAVE T'GO BACK
THERE AFTER DARK!

NAW, JUST FOOLISH,
I RECKON... BUT I NEVER DID BE-LIEVE IN GHOSTS,
SO I JUST WENT BACK TO PROVE IT!

I GUESS
YOU DID, ALL RIGHT... BUT
WE REALLY DID SEE ONE

YMEAN THAT WHITE THING?
SHUCKS, WE MUSTA JUST IMAGINED IT... ANYHOW, IT SURE WASN'T AROUND WHEN ME AN' THE POLICE CLEANED OUT TH' DUMP!

IT WASN'T? THEN
BY JIGGERS, THE GHOST MUST STILL BE UP THERE...
GEE, OOP,
LET'S GO SEE!

AW, BOSH! YOU'VE BEEN READIN' TOO MANY OF THESE HARUM-SCARUM
FUNNY BOOKS! BUT I'D SURE GO
YOU'D LIKE!

OKAY, OOP, THEY OUGHTA BE BITING
TODAY... AND WHEN WE COME ALONG
BY THE OL' HAUNTED HOUSE, WE'LL GIVE IT ANOTHER LOOK!

THIS IS A LIKELY LOOKIN' SPOT TO START FISHIN'...
BRING THAT
FOR?

OH, I DUNNO,
OOP... Y'NEVER
A SHOTGUN'LL
COME IN HANDY!

NOTE: GORRY
WE RAN OUT OF PICTURES
BEFORE WHAT'S
HAPPEN BE-
...OR GUMPIN'!

FOOZY'S FOOLOPHONES

OF ALL THE ANGER
KNOWN TO MAN OR
ELF... NONE COMPARES WITH THAT YOU FEEL AGAINST YOURSELF.

THE WEATHER
THIS WEEK:

MORE OR LESS LIKE
... ONLY

ALEX RAYMOND

Registered U. S. Patent Office

THE GARRISON OF PLACIDA, THE FIRST TOWN HE HAS
GUNDAR'S SENTRIES RACES UP WITH EVIL TIDINGS---

SIR,
OUR OUTPOSTS
HAVE SENT A SONOBEAM
WARNING---COLONEL MOGARD'S
ARMORED FORCES ARE SPEEDING TO ATTACK US!

GUNDAR, IF WE STAND SIEGE HERE, WE MAY DEFEAT MOGARD, BUT THE TOWNSPEOPLE
WILL BE UNDER FIRE. WE'LL LEAD MOGARD OFF INTO A TRAP IN THE HILLS
INSTEAD!

FLASH---
LET'S

UNDER
EFFICIENT
TROOPS AND WEAPONS ARE SPEEDED OUT OF THE TOWN IN A COMPACT, HARD-HITTING,
COLUMN.

MOGARD'S ARMORED UNITS RACE TOWARD THE
PEACEFUL, UNFORTIFIED TOWN. A TURNCOAT
DESERTER FROM THE GARRISON HURRIES TO CURRY FAVOR WITH HIS FORMER COMMANDER---

SIR, THE REBELS TOOK
THIS ROAD! AND WATCH OUT FOR THE TOWNSPEOPLE---
THEY HARBORED THE OUTLAWS!

AS RUTHLESS AS HIS MASTER, "BLOODY"
BRAZOR, MOGARD SAVAGELY DESTROYS
THE TOWN THAT HAD WELCOMED DESIRA,
THE TRUE QUEEN OF TROPICA, AND HER CHAMPION, FLASH GORDON.

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

FRIENDLY FOE

FORESEEING THE PATH OF THE ARROWS, TARZAN AVOIDED THE VOLLEY. THEN HE CALLED OUT: "IF YOU DO NOT RELEASE THE CAPTIVES THE STRANGERS WILL KILL YOU WITH THEIR THUNDERSTICKS!"

"WE CAUGHT THEM. WE'LL KEEP THEM," TIBEELA ANSWERED DEFIANTLY. "WE FEAR NO MEN."

THAT NIGHT, AS TIBEELA POSTED A STRONG GUARD, THE APE-MAN KEPT WATCH.

SILENTLY TARZAN ENTERED THE TREE VILLAGE—WHERE HE WHISPERED TO ONE OF THE CAPTIVES.

THE SENTRIES SPRANG AWAKE. QUICKLY THEY FITTED ARROWS TO BOWS.

"I SAW HIM FIRST. IT IS MY RIGHT TO KILL HIM," ONE CRIED AS SHE DREW HER BOW TIGHT.
